Yale Wins the Four-Oared Contest, But Harvard Takes Honors in Freshmen Race — Weather Conditions Perfect—A Great and Enthusiastic Crowd Cheered the Struggling Oarsmen

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—A crisp north wind with a refreshing coolness, sombre skies overhead and a fleet of large proportions of all sorts of pleasure craft swinging at anchor in the running tide in the Thames river, was the setting for the morning on this, the annual race day of the Harvard and Yale crews. In the streets of New London the crowds of over night enthusiasts bore the college colors proudly and with animation, all expectantly hopeful, not only of witnessing three fine races, but in seeing Secretary Taft, who has been in New Haven since Monday in connection with the commencement at Yale. He arrived here with his class, that of 1878, this morning to witness the big race. The class arrived in a special car attached to the special train leaving New Haven for New London. It is expected he will return to New Haven immediately after the races.

AT THE QUARTERS.

At the quarters of the crews the first men up poked their noses into a stiff northeast breeze, the difference in direction there from the lower stretches of the river being one of the peculiarities of the course. The sultry air of yesterday had been blown away and the thunderstorm of last night was looked upon as a good omen. North-east breezes here mostly die with the sun. As the two morning races were to be over the same water, that is from the navy yard to the drawbridge, instead of as in past years from Red Top for the four, and from the Navy Yard to the bridge for the freshmen eight, the inquiries of oarsmen before 9 o'clock was as in what might be expected there.

All the big fleet of yachts on the course hoisted signal flags when "colored" sailed from the Sayanora, the flagship of the Philadelphia Corinthian Yacht club and in almost a twinkling the two mile course was fringed with every color of the rainbow.

THE ROOSEVELT PARTY.

The Mayflower, which brought Mrs. Roosevelt and her family, over from Oyster Bay, anchored off the Port Griswold house during the late evening yesterday, and this morning soon after "colored" had been signalled to the fleet of pleasure craft, the family was transferred to the Sylph, which in line with the other craft, moved up through the drawbridge. This was the point at which the morning races were so scheduled to be finished, and the anchorage of the Sylph was most admirable.

SCENE ON SHORE.

As full of interest as the scene was afloat, the excitement began early in town, where the people take the annual regattas as much as a matter of course. They were anxious to see Secretary Taft, and when at the railroad station, it was definitely announced that the secretary was coming the crowd swarmed up to the ticket booths, inquiring about observation trailers for the west bank, the tickets for which were disposed of two days ago. Everybody wanted to be near and see the big secretary and his special car on the train over from the college city.

The morning crowds were loyal to their universities and flag banners, and colored megaphones quickly made the moving groups clusters of bright colors. Everybody was happy, and the lively breeze disturbed nobody, for all felt that the conditions for the morning races were good.

FOUR OARED RACE.

The four oared race which Yale won was called first and the crews were ready at their quarters in ample time to drop down to the navy yard for a prompt start.

No delay followed. The river was pretty good to look at although the breeze had freshened to a six mile one. By 10 o'clock the rival crews were afloat in the whistles, testing in chorus in response to the cheering of the crowds as the observation trains neared the navy yard. The crowd on the west bank trains cheered and the Yale adherents broke into the "Boat" song to a band accompaniment. At 10:52 the crack of the revolver started the four, Harvard breaking the water first and shooting the shell a little into the lead.

Both crews hit up the stroke to 35. Harvard was the first off. Half way to the half mile Harvard had a lead of a half a length. Nearing the flag of the first half mile Harvard maintained her lead.

Time for first half 2:53. Passing half mile Yale drew up a bit but could not overcome the Harvard lead.

Nearing the mile Yale spurred and almost reached even terms. Both crews continued to row a 32 stroke.

Oarsmanship of both crews was excellent with the exception of bow in Yale who splashed. Harvard had a lead of nearly a length at the mile. Time at mile 5:15.

After passing the mile mark both crews seemed on fairly even basis. Harvard leading by less than a length. When the mile and half mark was reached Harvard had increased her lead slightly.

At the mile and a half mark Harvard led by a length and a half. Time at mile and half 7:54.

In the stretch Yale spurred and reduced the lead slightly.

Half way between the mile and half mark the finish Yale spurred. Yale pulled a steady stroke while Harvard appeared to be exhausted. Nearing the finish Yale led by half a length. Yale's lead was steadily increasing near the finish, and a change had to be made. Yale won by three quarters of a length. Both crews appeared to be in good condition at the finish. Time 10:33-1:5.

To show their excellent condition the men in the Yale boat cheered first for Yale and then for Harvard, in just tones. Not to be outdone, the Harvard crew did likewise.

THE FRESHMEN RACE.

NEW LONDON, June 25.—The race officials returned to the drawbridge and both freshmen crews entered their shells preparatory to their two mile contest. The river conditions remained unchanged. The crews quickly took position. Yale had west side, Harvard the east. Without much delay the word was given.

At start Harvard again leading. Both crews spurred at once and for the first few strokes splashed wildly. They then settled down to a long, even swing of about 30 to the minute. On nearing the half mile Harvard led by half a length.

Half mile was made in fast time. Harvard reaching it in 1:52; Yale 1:54. After passing the half mile mark both crews struck a little rough water, but the row work was so good that there was very little splashing.

The pace slackened between the half mile and mile mark and Yale pulled up nearly even.

Just before reaching the mile, Yale spurred and obtained a slight advantage. The race, however, at this point was a pretty one. At the mile Harvard had a lead by half a length, and passed between the flags in 4:33 seconds; Yale was two seconds later.

After passing the mile mark the crews rowed on even terms both hitting up a long, steady stroke. Half way between the mile and the mile and a half flags, the crews were about on even terms.

Harvard now slightly in the lead. Both crews rowing in splendid form. Passing the mile and half mark, Harvard led by a half length. Time at the mile and half—Harvard, 7:14.

After passing the mile and half mark Harvard hit up a faster stroke, and forged ahead slightly. The form of the Yale crew fell off somewhat, and on the last half mile several of the oars splashed.

A quarter of a mile from the finish Harvard was leading by a length. Nearing the finish Yale splashed badly. Eaton, number 6, in Harvard boat, collapsed at the finish.

The Yale men finished in excellent form.

Unofficial time, 9:32-5.

Just before reaching the finish both crews spurred. Yale started the sprint and endeavored to win out on the spur.

Harvard quickened the stroke and the crimson boat drew away from its blue rival, and crossed the finished line a length and a half ahead.

BEAT ALL RECORDS

The Harvard Freshmen Make New Record

NEW LONDON, June 25.—Time in freshmen race best on record since this event has been rowed, starting in 1900.

THE JURY DISAGREED PLANS CHANGED

WILLIAM C. DOHERTY.

Jury Reported in Cambridge This Morning After Being Out All Night — Trial Occupied Three Days

The jury in the case of William C. Doherty, chairman of the board of health, reported a disagreement at 3:30 o'clock this morning in Cambridge before Judge Aiken. The jury retired yesterday at 3 o'clock and was out all night in an effort to reach a verdict. Judge Aiken at the close of the testimony, had ordered a verdict of not guilty on the charge of attempted bribery, there being no evidence to sustain that count in the indictment. The trial opened Monday morning, and was vigorously pushed through out by the district attorney, Mr. Doherty and his friends are disappointed that a verdict of not guilty was not returned, as they had confidently expected. This undoubtedly ends the matter so far as Mr. Doherty is concerned. See Page Three.

Mr. Lemkin Will Build Two Houses Instead of One

In the report of the permits to build as published in The Sun a few days ago it read that Morris Lemkin would build a four family dwelling on the south side of Bridge street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The report as it appeared in The Sun was absolutely correct, and when read by certain parties in Bridge street there was a hollow made that resulted in Mr. Lemkin changing his plans, not because he was obliged to, but because he preferred doing so rather than to have any trouble about it. It was a case with Mr. Lemkin of pursuing the line of least resistance.

There is a special restriction on the land in question. The restriction is contained in the deed and its import is that no house larger than a two-family house shall be built on the lot specified in Mr. Lemkin's permit and that's where the shoe pinched. Mr. Lemkin knew all about the special restriction and he intended to cover it by dividing his house on the line between the two lots, one half of the house on one lot and the other half on the other lot. That, he was advised, would cover the law, but the kick assumed such formidable proportions that he decided to build two houses instead of one-two-family houses at an estimated cost of $900 each.

Frightful Ocean Disaster at Corunna, Spain

Steamship Larache a Death Trap — Victims Were All From Argentine Republic

CORUNNA, Spain, June 25.—Latest reports show that 85 persons are missing as a result of the sinking of the steamship Larache.

The rescued number 85. The captain sank with his ship. Most of the passengers on the Larache were residents of the Argentine republic. The Larache proved a veritable death trap when she struck. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling in the water. The small boats were either smashed or capsized. A fleet of fishing boats rushed to the rescue but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interfered with their work. The fishermen succeeded in rescuing 63 persons. In addition to the captain the ship's doctor and the first officer were drowned. The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning and most of those who are saved are without clothing. It has been ascertained that the number of passengers and crew of the Larache totaled 150. Sixty-five persons are known to have been saved but the fate of the other eighty-five is not known and it is feared that most of them perished.

SHERMAN IMPROVES

Spent a Comfortable Night at Hospital

CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—The condition of K. J. James Sherman continues to improve. He spent a very comfortable night at the hospital where he was taken Tuesday morning suffering severely from an acute attack of gall stones. He enjoyed a peaceful slumber for four continuous hours. He did not become restless until 10 a. m. from which time he slept intermittently. The patient did not suffer from the heat as he did Tuesday night, as the entire night was cool and refreshing. The possibility of an immediate operation has passed. The only thing which caused the attending physician any uneasiness was the condition of the patient. The patient's temperature reached in the morning 100.4. This was 1.2 degrees less than the maximum reached Tuesday. During most of the night the temperature did not rise beyond two degrees above normal. Dr. Edward Carter, the attending physician, said today that if Mr. Sherman continues to improve as he has the past two hours he may be able to leave the hospital in a week's time. The doctors still adhere to the opinion that the operation should be postponed until the patient is as strong as he is now. His strength as the only means to effect an absolute cure.

MIMIC WARFARE

Militia Still Practising in Boston Harbor

The guns in the forts were sighted on craft moving some distance away representing warships and the correctness of the gunners' aim noted by the observation officers to be included in the figures which, averaged determined the success or failure of the soldiers' attempts at fulfilling movements under supposed war conditions.

BALL PLAYER

CLOPED WITH FAIR DAMEL FROM NEW BEDFORD.

NEW BEDFORD, June 25.—Announcement of the marriage at 19 Temple street of Miss Jennie Diamond, the daughter of Mr. J. J. Diamond of 200 Washington avenue, New Bedford, to the son of the Fair River New England League baseball team, has revealed a romantic story of love at first sight, a mutual wooing of less than two months, and an elopement. Sohrbraa fell head over heels in love with Miss Diamond. The couple met frequently after May 1 and Sohrbraa never played at Fall River or New Bedford that she did not go to the game in spite of protests.

Today Miss Diamond's employer said she must remain in the office and threatened if she attended the Fall River game he would discharge her. She listened the threat and went to the game. To Sohrbraa she told what her employer had said. Sohrbraa said: "Marry me, and you won't care what he does." They took a car to Taunton, where a clergyman performed the marriage ceremony.

A NOTED CROOK

C. F. Richards Arrested at Winthrop

HE IS WANTED FOR FORGERY

Once Posed as English Peer

BOSTON, June 25.—C. Francis Richards, alleged to be known in all of the principal cities of the United States and in England as an expert forger, was arrested in Winthrop yesterday by Inspector Wolf and Special Officers Angel and Laughlin of Boston, assisted by the Winthrop police.

Some days ago the New York police wired Chief Inspector Watts of Boston that Richards was wanted in that city, and he was thought to be in this vicinity.

Chief Watts at once took up the trail and located the wanted man. He was brought to Boston last night and the New York officials notified.

Richards' boyhood record says he was born in New York state in 1835, but Chief Watts says the man is not more than 60 years of age. Another record against him says he was born in Devonshire, Eng., in 1842.

The files at police headquarters say that for a long time Richards posed as Lord Ashburton to many well-known Bostonians. In 1895 he was employed in the Bank of England, and it is alleged that while so employed he gave way to temptation.

On Aug. 6, 1875, while under arrest for alleged forgery he escaped, and as far as known was never punished for the alleged offence for which he was then under arrest, though a reward of $2500 was offered for his capture.

In 1889 in San Francisco he was sentenced for forgery to eight years, the case against him being pushed by the Bank of Nevada, for four years later he was released because he led the officials to believe he was on the verge of death.

At one time Richards was said to have accumulated $99,000 as a sporting man in England, where he had become known in racing, yachting and fighting circles.

He became known in Boston in 1878, when he married a Miss Saville. She had some property and the couple traveled in style all through this country.

To Inspector Douglas of the Winthrop police, who assisted in the arrest yesterday, Richards said at one time he passed himself off as an American ambassador and received a life sentence for so doing, but how true that is can only be surmised.

Once he was given 10 years for forgery in England, but was let out on parole.

For some time he has been living on Coral avenue, Winthrop, and when arrested yesterday was enjoying a ride in an automobile which he had hired for one week.

The Testimony of Lowell People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Lowell people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Dean's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Lizette Netter, a proprietor of grocery and variety store at 129 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass., says: "Some six years ago, I gave for publication a statement recommending Dean's Kidney Pills after they cured me of backache which had annoyed me off and on for some time. Today I can state that the cure has been permanent. I have since known others who have used Dean's Kidney Pills through my recommendation and received prompt benefit. I procured them at Ellingwood's & Co's drug store."

A. Carleton; vocal solo, Mrs. Thomas A. Carleton; vocal solo, Mrs. Frank Hader; and Mrs. T. A. Carleton.

After the entertainment all present adjourned to the vestry. The vestry was very prettily decorated and the brilliancy of the color scheme added not a little to the affair.

The vestry table was presided over by Mrs. T. A. Carleton and Blanche Johnson and the ice cream was dispensed by Mrs. Mabel McKim, Mary Guller, Mrs. Martha Griffin and Charles Griffin.

JUDGE DEWEY

Severely Snubbed by Judge Bond in Court

ACCUSED OF NOT TELLING TRUTH

In a Breach of Promise Case

BOSTON, June 25.—Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey, counsel for Annie Manley, the negro who sought to recover $25,000 from Prof. Philippe R. Marcou for alleged breach of promise, and Judge Bond of the superior court at East Cambridge had a heated discussion yesterday afternoon when Mr. Dewey appeared to argue his motion for a new trial.

The discussion had gone on for some time when Judge Bond remarked, in substance: "You stand there and talk when you know you are not telling the truth."

"I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth," was the heated reply of Attorney Dewey. The argument was ended when Judge Bond overruled the motion for a new trial and Mr. Dewey left his courtroom, apparently much incensed.

When the time arrived for the argument at 4 o'clock Judge Bond indicated that Mr. Dewey might proceed with his argument. The latter asserted that he had received unjust treatment at the hands of the presiding justice, Judge Bond, and he particularly specified the Judge's talk to him before the jury when the case was being tried, which, he said, tended to prejudice the jury to the detriment of his client.

Mr. Dewey referred to a case which he tried before Judge Bond three years ago and during which, he claimed, he had had similar treatment. Judge Bond interrupted Mr. Dewey, saying in effect that that case was not now open for discussion.

Attorney Dewey replied that he simply mentioned the former case in order to explain what he considered was wrong in this case. Then Mr. Dewey started to tell what he believed the duty of the court was.

"I know my duty as well as you do and I do not intend to take instruction from you," replied Judge Bond.

"With all due respect to your office," retorted ex-Judge Dewey, "it makes no difference whether you have been on the bench 20 or 60 years. A judge can always learn something from a member of the bar."

"If you have anything to say regarding these exceptions and your motion for a new trial, say it. If you have not we'll go home," said Judge Bond.

Mr. Dewey proceeded along similar lines as before and Judge Bond interrupted him. "You stand and talk when you know you are not telling the truth," he said.

With great emphasis Attorney Dewey retorted: "I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I don't tell the truth."

"If you have anything to say on this case, say it," replied Judge Bond, calmly.

Attorney Dewey replied: "I feel it my duty to my client and to myself in my profession as a member of the bar to defend myself when I receive such unseemly treatment as I have from this honorable court."

Then he walked to the table, picked up his hat and papers and started to leave the room, Judge Bond writing the meanwhile. The papers were handed down to Clerk Dillingham and the decision was "motion overruled."

Anty Drudge Cures a Sick Headache.

Dr. Fudge—"Does Mrs. Junebride live here?"

Anty Drudge—"No—next door. I found her out in the back kitchen crying over her wash. The poor dear isn't used to such hard work, and she has a sick headache from it. I took the wash from her and quickly finished it with Fels-Naptha. She won't need you again on that score."

Dr. Fudge—"Well, really, Anty Drudge, washday is responsible for more ills than most people imagine. I am glad you have taken Mrs. Junebride under your wing. Fels-Naptha is the ounce of prevention that is worth my pound of cure."

Delicate summer curtains, draperies, tapestries, laces, women's fine raiment—things that would be ruined by washing in the old-fashioned way—can be cleaned at home with Fels-Naptha as well as an expert cleaner could do it.

Fels-Naptha contains no injurious chemicals; nothing that could harm the most delicate fabric. Sets colors instead of making them run as most soaps do.

With Fels-Naptha, use only cold or lukewarm water—never hot. That saves the fabric. Hot water would soften it and cause fraying.

Fels-Naptha dissolves the dirt; you don't have to rub it loose as with ordinary soap.

More than a million women do their washing with Fels-Naptha. They have found out that Fels-Naptha is the best and easiest way.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

CLEAN BUSINESS

GEORGE C. DEMPSEY OF LOWELL

Took a Prominent Part in the Proceedings

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 25.—The annual convention of the National Liquor Dealers' association was continued here yesterday.

Dr. A. J. Froberg, attorney for the Ohio Wine and Spirit association, defended the ordinary conduct of the saloon, saying:

"I think that if certain unnecessary and improper features have been allowed to grow up in connection with the business of selling liquor, it is due entirely to the American public. The American drinking place, its manners and customs are determined largely by the people who frequent it. I do not mean by this to condemn the whole American public, but simply to point out that the few saloons which are the subject of proper criticism are those saloons which cater to a class which demands that kind of thing in some form or other. The unfortunate part about it is that your anti-saloon league finds the bad saloon ready to its hand from which to draw the illogical conclusion that all places where liquor is sold are bad. It therefore hounds the distillers and brewers of this country to give as much publicity to their side of the question as the anti-saloon league has succeeded in doing by the aid of the yellow magazines of the country."

The speaker advocated district and other local organization and press campaign.

P. M. Gilmore, president of the National Model License League, said that while prohibition had cost Maine $50,000,000 in revenue the law had not reduced per capita consumption. He pointed to the recent defeat of Gov. Smith of Georgia as a sign of the awakening of the true popular sentiment. He advocated the self-renewing license as a method of taking the saloon out of politics.

"William E. Hull spoke on 'The Illinois State Association' and its successful work in the recent campaign in that state. He advocated a closer harmony between brewers, distillers and allied trades for the extension of the work. The local option law of Illinois he declared unjust."

The most notable feature of yesterday's session was that Commissioner of Internal Revenue John U. Cayser of Washington addressed the body at length. This is the first time that the revenue department has been represented at a liquor dealers' convention, and the members felt that the two are coming to a better understanding. One important statement by him was:

"The distillers, rectifiers and wholesale men could do a great deal to raise the tone, spirit, character, methods and conduct of retailers, and in so doing lift their business, even in the place where it finally reaches its last sale, into a cleaner and more popular method of handling."

When the liquor business is made cleaner and better in all its phases—refers to the conduct of the smallest man reflects on you—you will have done much to stop many of the claims of those who now advocate that you be legislated out of business, regardless of your locality, the size of your business, or the integrity with which you conduct it."

Five hundred members of the association are present and the main purpose of the meeting is to adopt measures to stop the progress of the anti-saloon league.

Among the features of the afternoon session of the annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers association now being held here, was the address of George C. Dempsey of Boston and Lowell, on "The License Laws of New England."

Mr. Dempsey, who is chairman of the executive committee of the national association and a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts association, reviewed the experience of New England with prohibition, and applied the results of such experience to the wave of prohibition which has been sweeping some of the Southern and Western states at the present time. He argued that as the policy had failed in "conservative New England," it would also fail in other parts of the country, and expressed the belief that the "tidal wave" had reached its height.

SOMETHING DOING

U. S. Attaches Withdraw From Caracas

WILLEMSTAD, Curaçao, June 25.—The American gunboat Marietta came into port early this morning from Port of Cabello. She has on board Jacob Sleeper, secretary of the American legation in Venezuela and Lieut. Francis Ruggles, the military attaché who withdrew from the legation at Caracas last Saturday with Mr. Ruggles.

Mr. Sleeper has been acting as chargé d'affaires at Caracas since the departure of W. W. Russell, the minister, early in May. He and Lieut. Ruggles withdrew from the legation at Caracas on Saturday and went to Port of Cabello where they were met by the Marietta. The interests of the United States were in charge of the Brazilian legation at Caracas.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Velasco-Gutierrez, the Venezuelan chargé d'affaires in Washington, was a caller at the state department yesterday. He talked with Acting Secretary Adams, but the latter declined to indicate what the nature of the conference was. Mr. Velasco has the reputation of being a man of the withdrawal of Jacob Sleeper, the American secretary and chargé at Caracas.

Mr. Sleeper is coming home by direct train from the state department, and it is admitted in official circles that the act means a practical cessation of diplomatic relations with Venezuela.

It developed that the program of the state department is not one of the moment, but the result of careful deliberation on the part of Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Bacon.

There is no doubt the withdrawal of the American legation from Venezuela was a complete and startling surprise to President Castro. What the next step in this international complication will be is a problem that no one connected with the administration here appears able to answer.

Wise Merchants

The merchants of Lowell are not fools. Of course they were not as wise once as they are now, but their wisdom came through experience.

While they always bought their merchandise by measure and weight, they used to buy advertising space in the local papers by sympathy and guess work. They don't buy it that way now. They buy space on the basis of circulation, estimating the price per inch per thousand papers circulated.

On this basis, they know what they get and they know that THE SUN is by far the cheapest medium in the city.

TO RIDE NIAGARA

Russian Here to Risk His Life

NEW YORK, June 25.—A Russian inventor of a remarkable motor boat arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Oceanic. It is his intention to take his corkle-shell craft through the Whirlpool Rapids, below Niagara Falls. He is Vasily Rebkoff.

He was joined at the pier by Baron von Kerwin, who is interested in the new boat. The Baron is a well-known aeronaut, connected with the German army. He built eighty balloons and airships and then turned his attention to motor-boating.

Rebkoff's boat will arrive on La Lorraine next week. It is twelve feet long and three feet wide. While traveling at its highest speed, 32 knots an hour, it skims along the top of the water, jumping from wave to wave. During a trial for the benefit of the German Emperor the water was rough, and Rebkoff boasted that no water could break him. He was dared to try the Niagara rapids.

GOV. CROTHERS

ON CAR BY WHICH MAN WAS KILLED.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—Governor Crothers was aboard a Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis car yesterday afternoon which struck and killed an unidentified man, miles from the other side of Annapolis Junction. With the governor was his nephew, Emerson Crothers.

According to witnesses, the victim was in plain sight of the motorman and passengers in the forward part of the car for fully an eighth of a mile. Instead of stopping, however, witnesses say, the motorman, evidently thinking the man would stop aside upon hearing the whistle, kept his car going at a rapid rate.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Despite the rain of last night a good sized audience attended the presentation of the "Mystery Girl" and came away well pleased. Next week's play at Lakeview theatre "The Girl of Eagle Ranch" is a western of city drama, written along new lines by Walter Woods, the well known producer and dramatist. It was originally written by Mr. Woods as a starring vehicle for Beulah Overton, the leading lady of the Adam Good company, for a tour last season, but a change of plans has put the play in the hands of a New York firm. The production managers and under the direction of the firm, the play is being presented in a new and different light. The play abounds in good strong dramatic situations, exciting denouements, and scintillating with bright and happy comedy, yet it has none of the objectionable features so common in the general run of western dramas. The story is of unusual interest and so deftly has the author handled the plot and comedy, the play and the story, that it will be a real treat to every eye and ear.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says "Democrat" is A Historic Description

ANOTHER SPEECH AT YALE

Sherman's Illness De-lays Political Work

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—News of the death of former President Grover Cleveland yesterday threw in a shadow of genuine sorrow the commencement festivities at Yale.

Secretary Wm. H. Taft was informed of the demise of Mr. Cleveland as the procession of the officials of the university, the faculty and the graduates, which was forming to march to Woolsey hall in which the commencement exercises were held. He expressed his deep regret at Mr. Cleveland's death and said:

"President Cleveland was one of the very great men of the country. His death is a distinct loss to the American people."

Later in the day, at the commencement dinner, the secretary paid a beautiful and eloquent tribute to the memory of the dead president.

The news of the death of Mr. Cleveland spread rapidly and among officials and faculty of Yale, with many of whom Mr. Cleveland had sustained cordial personal relations, expressions of sorrow were frequent and sincere.

At the conclusion of the commencement exercises, Secretary Taft announced that on account of the continued illness of Rep. James S. Sherman, his running mate on the republican national ticket, he had decided to postpone for one week, the meeting of the sub-committee of the national committee which was appointed to meet him in conference to select a national chairman. The adjourned meeting was to have been held in Washington on Wednesday, July 1. By Secretary Taft's decision it will not be held until Wednesday, July 8, in Washington. The secretary late yesterday sent a telegram to his private secretary in Washington, Frederick W. Carpenter, directing him to send telegrams to each member of the sub-committee notifying him of the change in the date of the conference.

"Mr. Sherman," Secretary Taft said, "is anxious to be present at the conference and it seems likely now that he will not be physically able to be in Washington next Wednesday. It is desirable, therefore, that the conference be postponed."

Former governor of Ohio, Myron T. Herrick, yesterday telegraphed Secretary Taft that Mr. Sherman's condition had improved materially, but that he was a very sick man.

TAFT IS SARCASTIC

At the alumni dinner, after the formal commencement exercises, Secretary Taft delivered the second of his scheduled addresses for the week. He made only a casual reference to politics in his speech, that being when he begged to advise the youngest alumnus of Yale that the term "democrat" is a "mere historical description."

To what was regarded as a significant extent he outlined his own position when he said he had come to Yale to be filled with Yale spirit which was "the spirit of progressiveness without the spirit of destructiveness."

Secretary Taft sat between President Taft and Senator Joaquim Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador, who was here yesterday to receive a Yale degree.

He was not permitted to take his seat, however, until he had been given a ringing shout of welcome and the Chautauqua salute by the great assemblage of alumni. L. Pierpont Morgan was seated next to the Brazilian ambassador. He received the degree of doctor of laws, but was obliged to leave the dining hall before the speech-making began in order to return early to New York. He had planned to depart today for Europe.

In the course of a felicitous introduction of Secretary Taft, President Hadley said:

"The fourth speaker, in a certain sense, occupies the place of prominence. There was a man who had the luck of being put down fourth on the list of after dinner speakers. He said it always seemed to be a reflection, because he could not help remembering the historic incident that Peter asked Ananias to stand forth. (Laughter.) So we have to take special pains as the fourth man is liable to be struck by some kind of lightning."

"Bill Taft does not belong to the club," yelled one of the '75 men.

SECRETARY TAFT'S ADDRESS.

Secretary Taft said:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen, Men of Yale—I join in an expression of sorrow, deep sorrow, at the death of Grover Cleveland. (Applause.) He was a great man and a great president. (Applause.) He had the highest civic ideals, he had a rugged honesty, he had a high courage that makes him now happy in his death, as he leaves this life revered, respected and loved by all his countrymen. (Applause.) And there is no more fitting place to pronounce an eulogium on him than in a meeting of Yale men, actuated and inspired with Yale spirit. Last year I was compelled to take the place of Senator Knox and this year of Senator Spooner. Now it has been my experience with members of that distinguished body that they were sometimes willing to speak when the country did not desire to hear them, and why, now that we are all aching to hear from them, that they each detect their parts. I don't understand."

President Hadley's speech was confined chiefly to a reference to the manner in which the university had weathered the financial strain. The other speakers were Rev. Dr. Hugh Black, Samuel J. Elder of Boston, Yale '78, and ex-President Timothy Dwight. After the exercises in Woolsey hall, Mr. Taft went to the headquarters of the class of '83—that of his brother, Horace—and held an informal reception for half an hour.

Last night, Secretary and Mrs. Taft were the guests of honor at a dinner party given by their host, Mr. W. W. Farnham.

Yesterday the secretary telegraphed Gen. Clarence B. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department, to meet him at the Manhattan hotel in New York, Saturday morning to join him and General Luke E. Right, his successor to be, in his visit to President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay.

FINE PROGRAM

By Pupils of Conservatory of Music

The 32d annual recital of the Lowell Conservatory of Music, held last night at Odd Fellows hall in Middlesex street, was a very charming event and revealed the fact that in our midst there lives a boy who speaks his soul from the violin. Signor Antonio Andreoli, a pale-faced unobtrusive and rather bashful lad, son of Mr. Andreoli, who conducts the very modest shoe-shine emporium in Prescott street, is master of the violin and his teachers in New York and at the Conservatory of Music in Boston speak of him as a "marvel." Last night with one solo he charmed the audience.

The recital program, last night, was a perfect one and was well carried out by the pupils who answered smilingly to hearty and sincere encores. All of the performers did admirably and the violin solo Andreoli's "Conte" by Signor Andreoli was a certain climax to a well prepared and splendidly executed program.

At the close of the recital diplomas were presented to the graduating class by Principal Geo. F. Willey, who has been a successful teacher of music in this city for over 60 years.

THE GREAT FLEET

Is Off for Trip Around the World

PROGRAM OF THE TOUR

Another Reception Will Be Held on Its Return

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The battleships Maine and Alabama, composing the special service squadron, which is preceding the Atlantic fleet around the world, sailed from Honolulu yesterday forenoon for Manila. They will touch at Guam on July 7, and are scheduled to arrive at Manila, July 21. The squadron is under command of Capt. Harber of the Maine. The two battleships will to some extent act as a pathfinder squadron for the Atlantic fleet, which sails from San Francisco on July 1. This fleet is beginning to assemble at San Francisco preparatory to its long cruise. The battleships Illinois and Wisconsin sailed from the Puget sound navy yard Monday for San Francisco, docking at Hunter's Point has been completed and all interest shown by New York in having the review held at that port. "The time of the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet is so far distant that no decision has been reach-days ago and had her hull scraped and painted in about 24 hours. This is an unusual record. The Kansas went into the dock at high tide and the whole ship's company began to work on the hull. Stages were placed around the vessel and as the water in the dock was drawn off her hull was thoroughly scraped. By the time all the water was out of the drydock her hull had been finished and the work of painting was begun immediately. By high tide the next day the coat of paint was dry enough for the Kansas to leave the dock.

A dispatch from Amoy, China, says that Admiral Sulu, commanding the Pei-yang squadron of the Chinese navy, who has been there preparing for the welcome of the American battleship fleet, sailed yesterday. He has left a committee to cooperate in the entertainment. The first day will be given over to official visits, and on the second day the foreigners will entertain the Americans. On the third day there will be sports for the enlisted men. Nothing has been decided upon yet for the fourth day, but on the fifth day there will be a reception by the Amoy commissioners, and on the sixth day the officers of the fleet will receive on board.

Two ports are being considered by the navy department at which to hold the review of the fleet when it again returns to the United States. Hampton Roads, because of its magnificent harbor, is strongly favored by some of the officers of the navy whose judgment will have weight in the decision. Others have urged the department to end the long cruise at New York. One of the conditions which has led the navy department to consider seriously sending the fleet of Hampton Roads is that so far, there has been but slight interest shown by New York in having the review held at that port. "The time of the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet is so far distant that no decision has been reached," said Secretary Metcalf, when asked where the review would be held. "Both New York and Hampton Roads have been considered. New York has not yet given evidence of very much interest in the matter."

Instructions have been sent from the navy department to the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, giving an outline of the practice to be held with the guns of the ships of that command. Some of the preliminary work will be held in Subic bay upon the arrival of the fleet in Philippine waters on its journey around the world. It is expected that the practice itself will occur during the early part of November in Manila bay, and orders have been sent to the navy yard at Saville to prepare the floating targets and chart the ranges. There is sufficient space in Manila bay to conduct this target practice, which is usually held for record purposes at Guantanamo, Cuba. It is gratifying to the naval authorities to be able to conduct target practice with the big guns, notwithstanding the disadvantage its deprivation of the annual practice with small arms. This has always been conducted at the naval station at Guantanamo, but there are no facilities either on the Pacific coast or in the Philippines for having small arms practice for the length of 8000 men. The facilities at Manila bay are meagre, and it is out of the question to delay the ships sufficiently long to give all the men a chance at this rifle fire. This year's target practice in Manila bay will be a departure from preceding work in that the ships will go on the ranges without previous knowledge of the direction of wind, at which they will pass the targets. This information will be in the form of sealed orders, which will be opened as the ships start for the practice. It is another step toward promoting efficiency in naval gunnery under conditions which are as exacting as those of actual warfare. Under such conditions it is not to be expected that as good percentages will be made as have been achieved at Guantanamo and Magdalena bay, but the practice will be more valuable.

KILLED INSTANTLY

FELL 80 FEET TO HIS DEATH

While Demonstrating a Hotel Fire Escape

SPRINGFIELD, June 25.—Fred G. Engel, inventor of the Engel automatic fire escape, jumped from the sixth story of the Court Square Hotel to his death yesterday afternoon while demonstrating the value of his invention.

Engel came here from New York a week ago and was endeavoring to interest the board of trade in forming a stock company for the manufacture of his apparatus.

Last Friday in the presence of several thousand people he jumped from the eighth story of Hotel Worthy and descended in safety.

Yesterday he planned to jump from the Court Square Hotel in order to demonstrate his invention to the fire commissioners and Chief Daggett. Owing to the rain the commissioners were not present, but Engel decided to experiment for the benefit of Assistant Marshal Charles L. Wright and several bystanders.

The apparatus consists of a wire cable which unwinds as a person descends. The cable is attached around the body with a chain. Engel weighs 210 pounds and as he let himself out of the window the chain gave way and he fell 80 feet, striking on his right side. He was killed instantly.

The board of trade was to have held a meeting at 5 o'clock to take action on forming a company.

ROOSEVELT FAMILY

ON THE PRESIDENTIAL YACHT AT FORT GRISWOLD.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 26.—The presidential yacht Mayflower, with Mrs. Roosevelt and family on board, which left Oyster Bay yesterday, steamed into the lower harbor and anchored off the Fort Griswold house shortly after ten o'clock last night. There was no communication with the shore. It is understood that in the morning Mrs. Roosevelt and the children will be transferred to the Sylph, which then will go through the draw-bridge and anchor abreast of the finish line of the inland races.

THE LATE EX-PRESIDENT

THE DEATH OF EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND HAS COME AS A SHOCK TO HIS ADMIRERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AND THEY ARE LEGION. EVEN HIS POLITICAL OPPONENTS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO HIS STATESMANSHIP AND WORTH. HIS DEATH HAS ELICITED A WAVE OF SYMPATHY SUCH AS IS RARELY BROUGHT OUT BY THE DEATH OF ANY PUBLIC MAN. IT HAS ALSO BROUGHT OUT HIGH ENCOMIUMS AS TO HIS CHARACTER AND ABILITY, THE SUCCESS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION DURING HIS TWO TERMS AS PRESIDENT AND WHAT HE ACCOMPLISHED FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

SOME OF THE LEADING MEN OF TODAY PRONOUNCE HIM ONE OF THE FOREMOST AMERICAN CITIZENS AND THE GREATEST STATESMAN OF HIS TIME.

THERE IS NO DOUBT AS TO HIS ABILITY AS A STATESMAN. IT WAS HIS ADVOCACY OF TARIFF REFORM OF THE RIGHT KIND THAT MADE HIM PRESIDENT. HE DID NOT FAVOR TARIFF REFORM AS A MEANS OF SECURING PUBLIC OFFICE; HE FAVORED IT BECAUSE HE BELIEVED IT TO BE RIGHT.

AS PRESIDENT HE DISPLAYED QUALITIES OF STATESMANSHIP NOT SURPASSED BY ANY PRESIDENT SINCE LINCOLN. HIS VENEZUELAN MESSAGE VINDICATING THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND REPELLING AN ATTEMPTED ENCRoACHMENT ON VENEZUELA BY ENGLAND, WAS ONE OF THE GREATEST DEEDS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION. THIS MESSAGE WILL STAND AS A HISTORIC DOCUMENT PERTAINING TO THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND ITS APPLICATION.

THE VENEZUELAN TROUBLE

THE UNITED STATES HAS SEVERED DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH VENEZUELA ALTHOUGH THERE APPEARS TO BE NO CAUSE THAT WOULD JUSTIFY THIS COURSE. IT IS TRUE THAT PRESIDENT CASTRO HAS BEEN VERY SAUCY IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, BUT THAT WOULD NOT JUSTIFY THE UNITED STATES IN MAKING WAR UPON HIS LITTLE COUNTRY.

IF IT IS A MATTER OF WHIPPING PRESIDENT CASTRO WE HAD BETTER SEND DOWN A PRIZE FIGHTER OF THE STAMP OF MARTIN FLAHERTY OF THIS CITY RATHER THAN A WELL TRAINED ARMY BACKED UP BY A FLEET THAT IS BLUE-MOLDING FOR WANT OF A FIGHT.

THERE IS A VERY GRAVE SUSPICION THAT THE TROUBLE WITH VENEZUELA AT THIS TIME IS PRECIPITATED AS A REPUBLICAN RUSE TO GET THE COUNTRY EXCITED SO THAT THE REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS CAN URGE THE DANGER OF CHANGING HORSES IN CROSSING A RIVER ON THE EVE OF ELECTION.

SEEN AND HEARD

He was a stranger in the city, seeking amusement between trains. And so he wandered to the public library and after a few moments spent in the museum he entered the fiction room. "I wonder what I'll read," he thought. A messenger boy entered and walked to the desk of Miss Minnie Noble, who has charge of the fiction room. "Say," he said, "I want that book called 'The White Horse Round.'"

"What?" asked Miss Noble. "Don't you mean 'The Turn of the Balance' by Brant Whitlock?" she asked. "That's it," the messenger boy said. This amused the stranger. But he was to hear more. Soon another person, after searching the shelves for about an hour, inquired what had become of that new book, "The Lady of the Decoration." He was given "The Lady of the Decoration" and went away satisfied. Then came a request for "Double Quick" and the person received "Double Trouble" by Herbert Quick.

"Say," said a girl as she approached the desk, "I've been looking for that 'Box of Oranges' all afternoon, but I can't find it anywhere." "Sure it isn't 'A Box of Orange Ribbons'?" Miss Noble asked. "Of course it is," said the girl. "How foolish of me."

Some one called for "The Author's Hangman" and got "The Literary Guillotine" while still another left the library with "The Beloved Vagabond" instead of "That Popular Tramp." The stranger remained near Miss Noble's desk nearly an hour. When he went away he decided he had found the amusement he had sought.—Kansas City Star.

This society has a similar record in the University of Missouri, where all five of the members added to its roll last year were girls.

Miss Stella Schaffer delivered the valedictory address for the graduating class of the Eclectic Medical college of the city of New York at the recent commencement exercises. It is the first time in more than ten years that such an honor has fallen to a woman. Miss Schaffer was also the winner of the electro-therapeutic prize.

The members of the Woman's Suffrage association are displeased because the "Antis" are circulating the report that woman suffrage tends to increase insanity. The statement was founded on the increase in Finland between the years 1900 and 1906. After many bad woman suffrage was granted in Finland until the latter year. This stopped the dispute but not the industrious research of the suffragists, for now they announce that after the many years of woman suffrage in Wyoming there are only three lunatics in the entire state, and all three are men.

Mrs. Margaret E. Horn of Indiana has obtained a pension of $24 a month from congress in recognition of her services during the war with the Sioux Indians. A pension bill was under consideration awarding her $16 a month as the widow of a war veteran. In the debate it was brought out that Mrs. Horn had personally rendered the government good service, for while her husband was at the front during the civil war she herself in 1882 fought against the Sioux Indians, being one of the besieged at Fort Ridgely, Minn. Because of this service her pension was raised to $24.

Addressed Boston College Graduates

Commencement work at Boston college was brought to a close last evening in Boston college hall, James St., where an audience of 1500 gathered to attend the graduation exercises, which besides the conferring of degrees upon the graduates, included the announcement of the prizes.

Seated on the platform with the graduates were a large number of alumni. A short time after the beginning of the exercises Archbishop O'Connell entered the hall and the entire audience stood while he was escorted to the platform.

Selections were rendered during the evening by the Boston college orchestra, under the direction of Michael Earls, S. J.

The diplomas were presented by the archbishop.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Hugh J. Molloy '83, vice president of the state normal school at Lowell.

Discourses on the "Centenary of the Diocese of Boston" were delivered by four seniors. John J. McMahon of Brockton talked on "The Material Growth," Edward J. Looby of South Boston spoke on "The Spiritual Growth," Henry T. Powers of Braintree on "The Civic Growth" and John T. O'Hare of Cambridge on "The Educational Growth."

In his address Mr. Molloy said: "It is by very singular chance and a happy circumstance that I find myself tonight on the twenty-fifth anniversary of my own graduation from Boston college, called upon to address the graduates of the class of 1908."

"This is a small college, but those who have dwelt within its walls, love it; we love it for the lessons we have learned here; lessons from the good old text books of college curriculum, useful in life's daily pursuits and avocations; lessons, too, from the book of life, read in the lives of men whom it has been a blessed privilege to have come into close relations with."

"We are citizens of a commonwealth that has early and late, made notable sacrifices, and put forth heroic efforts for popular education. No one can easily exaggerate the influence of Massachusetts on New England. I may say, on the destiny of the republic, through devotion to popular education."

Looks Over the Fire

HEARING THAT THE

BOTTOM

Had Been Lost or Fallen

Out of Site

Mr. McGraft jumped across the bridge into West Centralville this forenoon and examined the spot where the foundation is being laid for the new fire house in West Sixth street. He had in his possession something that resembled a pocket battery and putting his finger to a spring a dozen or more steel wires shot out and buzzed as if a great current was in motion.

Men who were working near where the tips of the wires landed dropped their picks and shovels and declared they had received an electric shock. There was one fellow, however, who did not move. It took Mr. McGraft about three minutes to make the test and when he had finished he touched another pearl button spring and back went the wires into the battery like box.

A peculiar smile hovered about the lips of McGraft as one of the workmen approached him with the query: "Might I ask what the d— you're doing with that thing. If that's one of those infernal machines I appoint myself a committee of one to ask you to vacate."

"I understand," said McGraft, paying no attention to what had been said. "that your boss has said he can't strike bottom on this engine house lot. Now that's a pretty good story and you tell your boss that I admire his resourcefulness. My name is McGraft, the emphasis beginning with G."

"What are you driving at?" queried the fellow who feared the infernal machine. "You noticed there was one man who did not move when I sprung the valvuloo tester," said McGraft. "Yes, I did notice that," said the workman. "The fellow's name is I. A. M. Wise and he hasn't spoke since. I think the little devil you have in your pocket put the poor fellow out of commission."

Mr. McGraft left the first speaker and went over to Mr. Wise with whom he held a whispered conversation. Upon separating McGraft turned to Wise, said: "It's the best thing I've heard of for a long time and if he gets away with it he's a corker."

NORTH ADAMS, June 25.—The balloon Greylock, piloted by Dr. R. M. Randall, his owner, defeated the North Adams No. 1 yesterday in a race into Vermont. N. H. Arnold piloted the North Adams No. 1, and had as his passengers W. S. Coughlin and H. D. Hopkins of Keene, N. H. William Van Sleet of Pittsfield, who is to be the pilot of the Aero club of this city, made his first ascension in the Greylock. The North Adams No. 1, got away at 8:35 a. m., but the Greylock did not rise till 10 o'clock. Both balloons took the same direction.

The North Adams No. 1 landed at Guilford, Vt., about 12 miles from the home of the Keene passengers in the car. As its pilot and passengers were backing up the Greylock passed over them and landed some two miles nearer Brattleboro at 1:20. This two miles gave Messrs. Randall and Van Sleet a start on the way home that aided them to catch a train that landed there five hours earlier than the pilot of the North Adams No. 1, who started an hour and twenty minutes ahead of them. Randall and Van Sleet were on the way home when the storm swept over the region, and as they had not telephoned how much anxiety was felt for their safety till they arrived. It was Mr. Randall's third trip.

Van Sleet will accompany Randall in their July 4 trip to Springfield. He will make another trip from here Friday. It is expected that Leo Stevens, accompanied by A. H. Morgan and J. H. Wade of Cleveland, will make a flight from here Saturday in the Sky Pilot and that Albert C. Tricen, a skilled French pilot, will make a start at the same time in the North Adams No. 1.

On account of the suspension of thunder storms yesterday afternoon and evening the ascent of Charles J. Glidden, who had planned to start at midnight in his new Libanon, Boreas, was abandoned. Mr. Glidden decided to wait for better weather. He may make an ascent tomorrow morning to find favorable currents of air which will carry him to Pittsfield, Mass.

BOARD OF ALDERMAN

Voted $15,260 for Sewers Last Night

The board of aldermen at a special meeting held last evening tabled the loan order for $500 for beautifying Monument square. Some of the board members think that $500 is a little steep for the job that is contemplated and when asked last night why he voted to table the order an alderman said, "It doesn't make any difference, the mayor will veto it anyway."

Perhaps that alderman knew what he was talking about and perhaps he didn't. The board voted $15,260 for sewers to cover the following sewer resolutions which were adopted:

To lay a sewer in Morton street, from Lawrence street northerly about 316 feet at a cost of $200.

To lay a sewer in Burton street from Lawrence street northerly about 518 feet, at a cost of $600.

To lay a sewer on petition of George B. Allan and others that a sewer be laid in Burton street, at a cost of $500.

To lay sewers in Epping street (from Lawrence street northerly and easterly about 151 feet and from Burton street westerly about 517 feet, at a cost of $600).

The Lowell Automobile Club, J. D. Heinze president, petitioned for the exclusive use of certain streets for speed contests on Labor day. said streets being principally the Pawtucket boulevard and Varnum avenue. The club also asked for permission to erect grand stands, handstands and other temporary structures necessary in the event.

The board voted to grant a hearing at the next meeting.

Albert Bennett petitioned for a sewer in Kensington street and the committee on sewers will consider it.

The park commission's communication recommending the appropriation of $500 for Monument square, adopted by the common council was read.

Alderman Gray said he was not opposed to the order, but thought he would like more time to look into the matter. Alderman Breanan seconded, stating that he had not examined the specifications. The motion became a vote.

The board concurred with the common council in voting $300 for salaries and the ringing of bells on July 4.

The report of the committee on ordinances and legislation recommending no change in the membership of the board of fire engineers was adopted. Adjourned.

HARVARD '08 WON

Freshmen Crew Defeated Yale Yesterday

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—Harvard won the two preliminary boat races with Yale on the river here yesterday afternoon—the one mile race for freshman four-oared crews and the half-mile race for the graduated eights. The victory in the latter race gives Harvard permanent possession of the Graves cup, which was put up for competition three years ago and was to go to the college which won it three times. Harvard has won all the graduate races of the past three years.

It was almost 5:30 o'clock when the crews went to the starting point. All four crews left their boatsheds about the same time, but the freshman race was called first. The river was crowded with steam and naphtha boats of all shapes and sizes. Most of them carried Harvard flags, but the Yale blue was by no means absent.

The members of the Harvard university crew saw the race from Robert Bacon's big boat, the Margaret. The John Harvard was crowded to the gunwale with spectators and graduates, and carried also Mr. McKelham, who refereed yesterday's races as a sort of a preliminary trial of his work today.

"It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on Diseases of the Skin, "how such a large number of people, especially ladies, are by attractively written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many so-called 'Heavenly Creams' now on the market, not knowing of course that they mostly contain oily or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are for that reason the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, blotches and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows and has invariably proved very successful. COMMITTEE REPORTS

Heard at Convention of Women's Clubs

Pine Forest, Parks and Playgrounds and Municipal Art Discussed—Reception at State House

BOSTON, June 25.—With today's sessions of the ninth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs in Symphony hall, the extent to which the aims and ideas of the federation in its efforts to aid in uplifting and contributing to the welfare of humanity, was shown in addresses by clubwomen and others who have made the various problems matters of special study. After two or three days of such addresses the delegates believe it will be possible to outline the general policy to be followed by the federation and its work during the two years which will elapse before the next convention and with it the next opportunity to judge of the success of the federation's efforts.

Those subjects allied to civic and municipal welfare and the various steps being taken to further the pure food movement were discussed at special sessions today which followed the opening business meeting in the morning. Routine affairs, consisting largely of reports by committees which had been entrusted with the various details in connection with the present convention occupied much of the time at the business session. After listening to the reports Mrs. Philip Moore of St. Louis, chairman of the biennial committee reported on behalf of her committee the general arrangements for the biennial session.

At the pure food session Mrs. Miller of Columbia presented the summing up of the work of the committee which has been following the pure food movement during the past two years. Other addresses on allied subjects at this meeting were given by Miss Mary Human Abel of Baltimore on "Clean Food" and by Dr. Charles Harrington of this city, secretary of the Massachusetts board of health, on "Local Meat Inspection."

At the session which considered civic questions many addresses and papers were heard. The civic committee reported at this meeting through Mrs. Joseph B. Dillwell, its chairman. The conditions in the canal zone for the federation is interested were set forth in an address by Miss Helen V. Boswell of New York.

Miss Boswell is the organizer of the Canal Zone Federation of Women's Clubs which includes eight organizations scattered throughout the isthmus. She undertook work at the request of Secretary of War Taft who had the matter suggested to him by the National Civic Federation. Miss Boswell's paper was replete with many interesting facts of the work being done on the isthmus towards furnishing opportunities for social intercourse and improving the civic conditions. The subject of municipal art was discussed by Edward Walker of Boston. "Parks and Playgrounds" were discussed by Miss Sadie American of Washington, and Mrs. W. W. Fong of New York spoke on the "Methods and Factors in Civic Work."

The feature of the day so far as the entertainment of the delegates was concerned was a reception at the state house in the afternoon, given by Gov. and Mrs. Curtis Guild, assisted by Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. Drane.

YESTERDAY AFTERNOON'S EVENTS.

BOSTON, June 25.—Business meetings, duplicate meetings, conferences, literature sessions, overflow sessions, teas, tips, readings, receptions, with excursions to the Art Museum, the library and other points of interest made a well filled if not an overfilling day for the Federation of Women's Clubs in convention in this city.

The business of the forenoon session was suspended for a few minutes in order to send a telegram of condolence to Mrs. Grover Cleveland.

UNION THE GREAT PRINCIPLE.

When it was resumed, Mrs. Decker read her report. She said in part: "During my first term I sometimes attended meetings where no word was spoken about the policies of the general federation. This has not been true in one instance this term, yet the general federation does not appear to be a dictator. It believes, however, that the strength of union is the great principle to be taught to the young of this age, for their training has made them foreign to them. Each member must be loyal to the general federation."

"I cannot forbear to express my gratitude to the co-workers for the help they have given me. Never has a woman failed or faltered. The initiative of the resources shown has been a source of constant delight. I thank you, every one, for your faith and service during my four years of office. I have never heard the slightest whisper of disloyalty. Although there have been many mistakes, which you have noticed, your loyalty has made my burden one happily borne."

A continuation of the spirit of union and fellowship will exist in an organization which will be not only a powerful, but a continuing influence upon the civilization of the 20th century."

GREETINGS FROM CHINA.

From Shanghai, China, came greetings to the convention, brought by Mrs. John C. Ferguson, who represents the American Women's Club, Mrs. D. N. Cooley of Iowa, honorary vice-president, also spoke a word of greeting.

The report of the committee on credentials was read by Mrs. Charlotte E. Bell, chairman, rules and regulations, Mrs. Charles E. Yarnall, chairman, program, Mrs. Percy W. Penhag, chairman, local national board of the Massachusetts federation, Miss

Hotel Liquor Case Will Go Over

The Franklin House liquor case was called for trial in the superior court, yesterday afternoon and then it was learned that Lawyer Daniel F. It was intended to go on with the cases yesterday and Lawyer Coakley had previously announced that the defense was ready at any time but yesterday found him unable to be present. District Attorney Higgins declined to go on but the court stated that the reason for asking for a delay was a fair one and the case was postponed.

FRANKLIN DEBATING CLUB.

The fifth annual party of the Franklin Debating club was held last evening at Thomas Talbot Memorial hall. Owing to the inclement weather the attendance was below the average of previous years, but those who attended were repaid by a very enjoyable evening. The music furnished by the Calumet orchestra was of the usual excellent order and elicited much applause.

It is the intention of the club to conduct another party later in the season, when, it is hoped, the weather will be more favorable. The disappointed patrons who were unable to attend will have an opportunity to make the same success it has hitherto been. The committee in charge last evening was: Duncan Kelley, general manager; Edward Scully, assistant general manager; Joseph McDermott, floor director; John H. Murphy, assistant floor director; Hazen G. Pillsbury, chief aid; Alice Wilbur, Ernest P. Parsons, John M. O'Donoghue, John J. Coyne.

Pulliam's Indefensible Sustaining of Umpire Emslie's Serious Error. Difference Between a Force Out and a Fielder's Choice — Running Turf

Michigan is concerned, without any ball reporters use these terms interchangeably or otherwise inaccurately. In a "first out" some runner is always put out but in a "fielder's choice" no runner is ever put out. For instance, when a runner is on first and the ball is hit and not caught on the fly the effort is made to put out the runner so far from first to second. If the throw is late and the runner safe at second

NIGHT EDITION

FRED AYER ESTATE

Purchased by the Oblate Fathers for An OrphanageDeeds Passed Today—It is One of the Most Picturesque Estates in Lowell

The Frederick Ayer estate at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets, one of the finest and best appointed residences in the city, has been purchased by the Oblate Fathers and will be transformed into an orphanage. While the fathers have contemplated the purchase of the property for some time the matter was kept rather quiet until yesterday when the final papers were passed.

The estate consists of an elegant and mammoth brick building, stable, greenhouse, etc., while the grounds surrounding the house are spacious and well shaded.

Owing to the excellent workmanship put into the house the work of altering the building will not necessarily be very difficult.

Lowell is in great need of a Catholic orphanage. St. Peter's being far too small to accommodate all the worthy applicants for admission. The Oblate Fathers are to be congratulated upon their enterprise in the cause of such a worthy charity.

Revealed by Death of a Millionaire

PARIS, June 25.—The death here of Benjamin Hart, a millionaire American who has resided in Paris almost continuously for the past twenty-five years, has uncovered a romance which promises to have a court sequel in a suit brought by the adopted daughter whom Mr. Hart disinherited in his will.

Hart was a Virginian by birth, but he was well known in New York, where he lived for many years and where he amassed a large fortune during the Civil war. He was married while he lived in America, but later was divorced. As there were no children to the union, Mr. Hart, during one of his visits to Paris, became interested in a pretty three-year-old child, Isabel Lucchesi, and arranged with the parents to adopt her as his own daughter.

The little girl was tenderly reared by Hart after the divorce from his wife and every care was bestowed upon her education and training. In 1892, when Isabel was 15 years of age, Hart formally adopted her in New York. The adopted daughter about this time contracted a brilliant marriage with a distinguished young French diplomat, Jean Guillemin, who is well known in America, where he was dispatched by M. Delcasse upon two missions.

Soon after this Hart formed a mesalliance with a Madame de Bie, and installed her as the mistress of his splendid Paris home. It is charged that Madame de Bie conceived a violent hatred for the daughter because the latter refused to recognize her.

At any rate, when Mr. Hart died it was found that he had left a will specifically disinheriting the adopted daughter and bequeathing all his property, which amounts to several millions of dollars, to Madame de Bie.

Guillemin has instructed the lawyer, Donald Harper, to bring suit to break the will on the ground of undue influence. The document will also be contested, as it was drafted in accordance with the New York law, whereas it is claimed Hart was domiciled in France.

Mr. Hart's will will come up for probate before the surrogate of New York on July 20.

on Charge of Political Coercion

WILLIAM C. DOHERTY.

Jury Reported in Cambridge This Morning After Being Out All Night—Trial Occupied Three Days

The jury in the case of William C. Doherty, chairman of the board of health, reported a disagreement at 9:30 o'clock this morning in Cambridge before Judge Aiken. The jury retired yesterday at 3 o'clock and was out all night in an effort to reach a verdict.

Judge Aiken at the close of the testimony, had ordered a verdict of not guilty on the charge of attempted bribery, there being no evidence to sustain that count in the indictment. The trial opened Monday morning, and was vigorously pushed through out by the district attorney, Mr. Doherty and his friends are disappointed that a verdict of not guilty was not returned, as they had confidently expected.

This undoubtedly ends the matter so far as Mr. Doherty is concerned.

Just what part of the state she is held in, Haines would not tell, nor would he divide the names of the persons alleged to have kidnapped Mrs. Bolckwijn.

"We know who they are," he said, "but we are not the ones to divulge their identity, or to give any information about the case which deals with the honor of the state. We have secured only a few days' delay, but the search has been started."

SILENT ON DEMAND.

Dr. Haines could not divulge that part of the case which deals with the honor of the state, with whom Mrs. Bolckwijn lived at South Amboy, a few miles from the kidnappers' den, for her grandmother's release.

With her in the Cleveland home at "Westland" during the night were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Watson Gillet of New York; John Finley, president of the college of the city of New York; intimate friends of the family and Cleveland F. Bacon, a nephew of the former president.

Mrs. Cleveland did not retire until late last night but arose at an early hour today and spent some time in the open air alone on the veranda.

Among other relatives expected to arrive today are two of Mr. Cleveland's sisters, Miss Rose Cleveland of New York, who was mistress of the White House before President Cleveland's marriage to Mrs. M. B. Bacon, wife of an architect of Toledo, O. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Cleveland Hoyt is expected tomorrow from Omaha, Neb.

The hour for the funeral has been fixed at five o'clock in the afternoon to give those who live at a distance an opportunity to reach Princeton. Services will be simple and unostentatious and will be conducted with extreme privacy if the wishes of Mrs. Cleveland are carried out.

Historic Princeton in common with the state and nation is mourning the death of her distinguished citizen. Flags are at half staff and emblems of mourning throughout the college town bear mute testimony of the nation's loss.

Mr. Cleveland's body will be buried in a heavy oaken casket with silver handled bars. A silver plate bears the simple inscription:

A NOTED CROOK

C. F. Richards Arrested at Winthrop

HE IS WANTED FOR FORGERY

Once Posed as English Peer

BOSTON, June 25.—C. Francis Richards, alleged to be known in all of the principal cities of the United States and in England as an expert forger, was arrested in Winthrop yesterday by Inspector Wolf and Special Officers Angel and Laughlin of Boston, assisted by the Winthrop police.

Some days ago the New York police wired Chief Inspector Watts of Boston that Richards was wanted in that city, and he was thought to be in this vicinity.

Chief Watts at once took up the trail which located the wanted man. He was brought to Boston last night and the New York officials notified.

Richards' London record says he was born in New York state in 1838, but Chief Watts says the man is not more than 60 years of age. Another record against him says he was born in Devonshire, Eng., in 1833.

The files at police headquarters say that for a long time Richards posed as Lord Ashburton to many well-known Bostonians. In 1895 he was employed in the Bank of England, and it is alleged that while so employed he gave way to temptation.

On Aug. 6, 1879, while under arrest for alleged forgery he escaped, and as he was known was never punished for the alleged offense for which he was then under arrest, though a reward of $2500 was offered for his capture.

In 1880 in San Francisco he was sentenced for forgery to eight years, the case against him being pushed by the Bank of Nevada, for four years later he was released because he led the officials to believe he was on the verge of death.

At one time Richards was said to have accumulated $90,000 as a sporting man in England, where he had become known in racing, yachting and fighting circles.

He became known in Boston in 1875, when he married a Miss Saville. She had some property and the couple traveled in style all through this country.

To Inspector Douglas of the Winthrop police, who assisted in the arrest yesterday, Richards said at one time he posed himself off as an American ambassador and received a life sentence for so doing, but how true that is can only be surmised.

Once he was given 10 years for forgery in England, but was let out on parole.

For some time he has been living on Coral avenue, Winthrop, and when arrested yesterday was enjoying a ride in an automobile which he had hired for one week.

Time is the Test

The Testimony of Lowell People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Lowell people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Lizzie Nevins, a proprietor of grocery and variety store at 20 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass., says: "Some six years ago, I gave for publication a statement recommending Doan's Kidney Pills after they cured me of backache which had annoyed me off and on for the time. Today I can state that the cure has been permanent. I have known many others who have used Doan's Kidney Pills through my recommendation and received great benefit. I procured them at Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

JUDGE DEWEY

Severely Snubbed by Judge Bond in Court

ACCUSED OF NOT TELLING TRUTH

In a Breach of Promise Case

BOSTON, June 25.—Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey, counsel for Annie Manley, the negress who sought to recover $25,000 from Prof. Philippe B. Marcou for alleged breach of promise, and Judge Bond of the superior court at East Cambridge had a heated discussion yesterday afternoon when Mr. Dewey appeared to argue his motion for a new trial.

The discussion had gone on for some time when Judge Bond remarked, in substance, "You stand there and talk when you know you are not telling the truth."

"I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth," was the heated reply of Attorney Dewey. The argument was ended when Judge Bond overruled the motion for a new trial and Mr. Dewey left the courtroom, apparently much incensed.

When the time arrived for the argument at 4 o'clock Judge Bond indicated that Mr. Dewey might proceed with his argument. The latter asserted that he had received unjust treatment at the hands of the presiding justice, Judge Bond, and he particularly specified the Judge's talk to him before the jury when the case was being tried, which, he said, tended to prejudice the jury to the detriment of his client.

Mr. Dewey referred to a case which he tried before Judge Bond three years ago and during which, he claimed, he had had similar trouble. Judge Bond interrupted Mr. Dewey, saying in effect that that case was not now open for discussion.

Attorney Dewey replied that he simply mentioned the former case in order to explain what he considered was wrong in this case. Then Mr. Dewey started to tell what he believed the duty of the court was.

"I know my duty as well as you do and I do not intend to take instruction from you," replied Judge Bond.

"With all due respect to your office," retorted ex-Judge Dewey, "it makes no difference whether you have been on the bench 20 or 50 years. A judge can always learn something from a member of the bar."

"If you have anything to say regarding these exceptions and your motion for a new trial, say it. If you have not we'll go home," said Judge Bond.

Mr. Dewey proceeded along similar lines as before and Judge Bond interrupted him, "You stand and talk when you know you are not telling the truth," he said.

With great emphasis Attorney Dewey retorted: "I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth." The heated reply of Attorney Dewey. Anty Drudge Cures a Sick Headache.

Dr. Fudge—"Does Mrs. Junebride live here?"

Anty Drudge—"No—next door. I found her out in the back kitchen crying over her wash. The poor dear isn't used to such hard work, and she has a sick headache from it. I took the wash from her and quickly finished it with Fels-Naptha. She won't need you again on that score."

Dr. Fudge—"Well, really, Anty Drudge, washday is responsible for more ills than most people imagine. I am glad you have taken Mrs. Junebride under your wing. Fels-Naptha is the ounce of prevention that is worth my pound of cure."

Delicate summer curtains, draperies, tapestries, laces, women's fine raiment—things that would be ruined by washing in the old-fashioned way—can be cleaned at home with Fels-Naptha as well as an expert cleaner could do it.

Fels-Naptha contains no injurious chemicals; nothing that could harm the most delicate fabric. Sets colors instead of making them run as most soaps do.

With Fels-Naptha, use only cold or lukewarm water—never hot. That saves the fabric. Hot water would soften it and cause fraying.

Fels-Naptha dissolves the dirt; you don't have to rub it loose as with ordinary soap.

More than a million women do their washing with Fels-Naptha. They have found out that Fels-Naptha is the best and easiest way.

PLANS CHANGED

Mr. Lemkin Will Build Two Houses Instead of One

In the report of the permits to build as published in The Sun a few days ago it read that Morris Lemkin would build a four family dwelling on the south side of Bridge street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The report as it appeared in The Sun was absolutely correct and when read by certain parties in Bridge street there was a hollowed look, but because he preferred doing so rather than to have any trouble about it. It was a case with Mr. Lemkin of pursuing the line of least resistance.

CRIMSON AND BLUE 85 LIVES LOST

Each Waved in Victory at College Races This Morning

Yale Wins the Four-Oared Contest, But Harvard Takes Honors in Freshmen Race — Weather Conditions Perfect—A Great and Enthusiastic Crowd Cheered the Struggling Oarsmen

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—A crisp north wind with a refreshing coolness, sombre skies overhead and a fleet of large proportions of all sorts of pleasure craft swinging at anchor in the running tide in the Thames river, was the setting for the morning on this the fourth day of the Harvard and Yale regatta. In the streets of New London the crowds of over night enthusiasts bore the college colors proudly and with animation, all expectantly hopeful, not only of witnessing three fine races, but in seeing Secretary Taft, who has been in New Haven since last Monday in connection with the commencement at Yale. He arrived here with his class, that of 1878, this morning to witness the big race. The class arrived in a special car attached to the special train leaving New Haven for New London. It is expected he will return to New Haven immediately after the races.

AT THE QUARTERS.
At the quarters of the crews the first men up poked their noses into a stiff northeast breeze, the difference in direction there, from the lower stretches of the river being one of the peculiarities of the course. The sultry air of yesterday had been blown away and the thunderstorm of last night was looked upon as a good omen. Northwesterly breezes here mostly die with the sun. As the two morning races were to be over the same way that is from the navy yard to the drawbridge, instead of as in past years from Red Top for the four, and from the Navy Yard to the bridge for the freshmen eights, the inquiries of oarsmen before 9 o'clock was as to what might be expected there.

All the big fleet of yachts on the course hoisted signal flags when "colors" boomed out from the Bayview, the flagship of the Philadelphia Corinthian Yacht club and in almost a twinkling the two mile course was fringed with every color of the rainbow.

THE ROOSEVELT PARTY.
The Mayflower, which brought Mrs. Roosevelt and her family over from Oyster Bay, anchored off the Fort Griswold house during the late evening yesterday, and this morning soon after "colors" had been signalled to the fleet of pleasure craft, the family was transferred to the Sylph, which in line with the other craft, moved up through the drawbridge. This was the point at which the morning races were so scheduled to be finished, and the anchorage of the Sylph was most admirable.

SCENE ON SHORE.
As full of interest as the scene was afloat, the excitement began early in town, where the people take the annual regatta as much as a matter of course. They were anxious to see Secretary Taft, and when at the railroad station it was definitely announced that the secretary was coming the crowd swarmed up to the ticket booths, jostling about observation trains for the west bank, the tickets for which were disposed of two days ago. Everybody wanted to be near and see the big secretary and his special car on the train over from the city.

FOUR OARED RACE.
The four oared race which Yale won was called first and the crews were ready at their quarters in ample time to drop down to the navy yard for a prompt start.

No delay followed. The river was pretty good to look at although the breeze had freshened to a six mile one. By 9 o'clock the rival crews were afloat in the whistles tooting in chorus in response to the cheering of the crowd. The observation trains near the west bank cheered and the Yale adherents broke into the "Boat" song to a band accompaniment. At 10:30 the crack of the revolver started the four. Harvard breaking the water first and shooting the shell a little into the lead.

Both crews hit up the stroke to 25. Harvard was the first off. Half way to the half mile Harvard had a lead of nearly a length at the mile. Time at mile 1:11.

After passing the mile mark both crews reached on fairly even basis. Harvard's lead was less than a length. At the half mile Harvard had a lead of half a length, and passed between the flags in 1:52 seconds; Yale was two seconds later.

After passing the mile mark the crews pulled a steady stroke while Harvard appeared to be exhausted. Nearing the finish Yale led by half a length. Yale's lead was steadily increasing near the finish, and a change had to be made. Yale won by three lengths.

Both crews appeared to be in good condition at the finish. Time, 1:53:15. To show their excellent condition the men in the Yale boat cheered first for Yale and then for Harvard, in lusty tones. Not to be outdone, the Harvard crew did likewise.

THE FRESHMEN RACE.
NEW LONDON, June 25.—The race officials returned to the drawbridge and both freshmen crews entered their shells preparatory to their two mile contest. The river conditions remained unchanged. The crews quickly took position. Yale had west side, Harvard the east. Without much delay the race was given.

At start Harvard again leading. Both crews spurred at once and for the first few strokes splashed wildly. They then settled down to a long, even swing of about 30 to the minute. On nearing the half mile Harvard led by half a length.

Half mile was made in fast time, Harvard reaching it in 1:32; Yale 1:34. After passing the half mile mark both crews struck a little rough water, but the oar work was so good that there was very little splashing.

The pace slackened between the half mile and mile mark and Yale pulled up nearly even.

Just before reaching the mile, Yale spurred and obtained a slight advantage. The race, however, at this point was a pretty one. At the mile Harvard had a lead by half a length, and passed between the flags in 1:52 seconds; Yale was two seconds later.

After passing the mile mark the crews Cook, Taylor & Co.

Steamship Larache a Death Trap —Victims Were All From Argentine Republic

CORUNNA, Spain, June 25.—Latest reports show that 85 persons are missing as a result of the sinking of the steamship Larache.

The vessel, number 55. The captain sank with his ship.

Most of the passengers on the Larache were residents of the Argentine Republic. The Larache proved a veritable death trap when she struck. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling in the water. The small boats were either smashed or capsized. A fleet of fishing boats rushed to the rescue but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interfered with their work.

The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning and most of those who were on board were asleep. The number of passengers on board of the Larache is believed to have been about 100. The fate of the other 85 is not known and it is feared that most of them perished.

Took a Prominent Part in the Proceedings

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 25.—The annual convention of the National Liquor Dealers' association was continued here yesterday.

Dr. A. J. Froberg, attorney for the Ohio Wine and Spirit association, defended the ordinary conduct of the saloon, saying:

"I think that if certain unnecessary and improper features have been allowed to grow up in connection with the business of selling liquor, it is due entirely to the American public. The American drinking place, its manners and customs are determined largely by the people who frequent it. I do not mean by this to condemn the white American public, but simply to point out that the few saloons which are the subject of proper criticism are those saloons which cater to a class which demands that kind of thing in some form or other. The unfortunate part about it is that your anti-saloon league finds the bad saloon many to his hand from which to draw the logical conclusion that all places where liquor is sold are bad. It therefore bores the distillers and brewers of this country to give as much publicity to their side of the question as the anti-saloon league has succeeded in doing by the aid of the yellow magazines of the country."

The speaker advocated district and other local organization and press campaigns.

T. M. Gilmore, president of the National Model License league, said that while prohibition had cost Maine $60,000,000 in revenue the law had not reduced per capita consumption. He pointed to the recent defeat of Gov. Smith of Georgia as a sign of the awakening of the true popular sentiment. He advocated the self-renewing license as a method of taking the saloon out of politics.

William E. Hull spoke on "The Illinois State association" and its successful work in the recent campaign in that state. He advocated a closer harmony between brewers, distillers and allied trades for the extension of the work. The local option law of Illinois he declared unjust.

The most notable feature of yesterday's session was that Commissioner of Internal Revenue John G. Cappers of Washington addressed the body at length. This is the first time that the revenue department has been represented at a liquor dealers' convention, and the members felt that the two are coming to a better understanding. An important statement by him was:

"The distillers, rectifiers and wholesale men could do a great deal to raise the tone, spirit, character, methods and conduct of retailers, and in so doing lift their business, even in the place into a cleaner and more popular method of handling."

"When the liquor business is made cleaner and better in all its phases—by the conduct of the smallest man, reflects on you—you will have done much to stop many of the claims of those who now advocate that you be legislated out of business, regardless of your locality, the size of your business, or the integrity with which you conduct it."

Five hundred members of the association are present and the main purpose of the meeting is to adopt measures to stay the progress of the anti-saloon league.

Among the features of the afternoon session of the annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association now being held here, was the address of George C. Dempsey of Boston and Lowell on "The License Laws of New England."

Mr. Dempsey, who is chairman of the executive committee of the national association and a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts association, reviewed the experience of New England with prohibition, and applied the results of such experience to the wave of prohibition which has been sweeping some of the Southern and Western states at the present time.

He argued that as the policy had been in "conservative New England," it would also fail in other parts of the country, and expressed the belief that the "tidal wave" had reached its height.

SOMETHING DOING

U. S. Attaches Withdraw From Caracas

WILLEMSTAD, Curaçao, June 25.—The American ambassador Marletta came into port early this morning from Port of Spain. She has on board Jacob Sleeper, secretary of the American legation in Venezuela and Lieut. Francis Ruggles, the military attaché who withdrew from the legation at Caracas last Saturday with Mr. Ruggles.

Mr. Sleeper has been acting as chargé d'affaires at Caracas since the departure of W. W. Russell, the minister, early in May. He and Lieut. Ruggles withdrew from the legation at Caracas on Saturday and went to Port of Spain where they were met by the Marletta. The interests of the United States were in charge of the Brazilian legation at Caracas.

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Velasco, of the Venezuelan chargé d'affaires, in Washington, was called at the state department yesterday. He talked with Acting Secretary Adams, but the latter declined to indicate what the nature of the conference was. Mr. Velasco has not the remotest idea of demanding his passport as the outcome of the withdrawal of Jacob Sleeper, the American secretary and chargé d'affaires.

Mr. Sleeper is coming home by direction of the state department and is admitted in official circles that the act means a practical cessation of diplomatic relations with Venezuela.

It developed that the program of the department is not one of the moment, but the result of careful deliberation on the part of Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Bacon. There is no doubt the withdrawal of the American legation from Venezuela was a complete and startling surprise to President Castro. What the next step in this international complication will be is a problem that no one connected with the administration here appears able to answer.

Wise Merchants

The merchants of Lowell are not fools. Of course they were not as wise once as they are now, but their wisdom came through experience.

While they always bought their merchandise by measure and weight, they used to buy advertising space in the local papers by sympathy and guess work. They don't buy it that way now. They buy space on the basis of circulation, estimating the price per inch per thousand papers circulated.

On this basis, they know what they get and they know that THE SUN is by far the cheapest medium in the city.

TO RIDE NIAGARA

Russian Here to Risk His Life

NEW YORK, June 25.—A Russian inventor of a remarkable motor boat arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Oceanic. It is his intention to take his cockle-shell craft through the whirlpool Rapids, below Niagara Falls. He is Vasily Rubikoff.

He was joined at the pier by Baron von Kerwin, who is interested in the new boat. The Baron is a well-known aeronaut, connected with the German army. He has built rightly balloons and airships and then turned his attention to motor-boating.

Rubikoff's boat will arrive on La Lorraine next week. It is twelve feet long and three feet wide. While traveling at its highest speed, 32 knots an hour, it skims along the top of the water, jumping from wave to wave.

During a trial for the benefit of the German Emperor the water was rough, and Rubikoff boasted that no water could halt him. He was dared to try the Niagara rapids.

GOV. CROTHERS

ON CAR BY WHICH MAN WAS KILLED.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—Governor Crothers was aboard a Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis car yesterday afternoon which struck and killed an unidentified man two miles the other side of Annapolis Junction. With the governor was his nephew, Emerson Crothers.

According to witnesses, the victim was in plain sight of the motorman and passengers in the forward part of the car for fully an eighth of a mile. Instead of stopping, however, witnesses say, the motorman, evidently thinking the man would step aside upon hearing the whistle, kept his car going at a rapid rate.

The victim was hurled violently to the side of the track.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Despite the rain of last night a good sized audience attended the presentation of the "Believe Girl" and came away well pleased. Next week's play at Lakeview theatre, "A Girl of Eagle Ranch," is a western comedy drama, written about new lines by Walter Woods, the well known producer and dramatist. It was originally written by Mr. Woods as a starring vehicle for Basile Overton, for a tour last season, but a change of plans placed the play in the hands of a New York firm of producing managers and under their direction it had a prosperous tour over the State and Havila circuit to the east and back. The play abounds in all the dramatic elements, with bright and happy features, and it has none of the slow, ponderous, and common to the average of the kind of comedy. The story is of a girl and her interest and comedy, the plot and the comedy follow its story in a succession. There will be a matinee every day except Monday.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says "Democrat" is a Historic Description

ANOTHER SPEECH AT YALE

Sherman's Illness Delays Political Work

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—News of the death of former President Grover Cleveland yesterday threw in a shadow of genuine sorrow the commencement festivities at Yale.

Secretary Wm. H. Taft was informed of the demise of Mr. Cleveland as the procession of the officials of the university, the faculty and the graduates, which was forming to march to Woolsey hall in which the commencement exercises were held. He expressed his deep regret at Mr. Cleveland's death and said:

"President Cleveland was one of the very great men of the country. His death is a distinct loss to the American people."

Later in the day, at the commencement dinner, the secretary paid a beautiful and eloquent tribute to the memory of the dead president.

The news of the death of Mr. Cleveland spread rapidly among the officials and faculty of Yale, with many of whom Mr. Cleveland had sustained cordial personal relations, expressions of sorrow were frequent and sincere.

At the conclusion of the commencement exercises, Secretary Taft announced that on account of the continued illness of Rep. James S. Sherman, his running mate on the republican national ticket, he had decided to postpone for one week, the meeting of the sub-committee of the national committee which was appointed to meet him in conference to select a national chairman. The adjourned meeting was to have been held in Washington on Wednesday, July 1.

By Secretary Taft's decision it will not be held until Wednesday, July 8, in Washington. The secretary late yesterday sent a telegram to his private secretary in Washington, Frederick W. Carpenter, directing him to send telegrams to each member of the sub-committee notifying him of the change in the date of the conference.

"Mr. Sherman," Secretary Taft said, "is anxious to be present at the conference and it seems likely now that he will not be physically able to be in Washington next Wednesday. It is desirable, therefore, that the conference be postponed."

Former governor of Ohio, Myron T. Herrick, yesterday telegraphed Secretary Taft that Mr. Sherman's condition had improved materially, but that he was a very sick man.

TAFT IS SARCASTIC

At the annual dinner, after the formal commencement exercises, Secretary Taft delivered the second of his scheduled addresses for the week. He made only a casual reference to politics in his speech, that being when he begged to advise the youngest alumnus of Yale that the term "democrat" is a "mere historical description."

To what was regarded as a significant extent he outlined his own position when he said he had come to Yale to be filled with Yale spirit which was "the spirit of progressiveness without the spirit of destructiveness."

Secretary Taft sat between President Hadley and Senator Joaquim Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador, who was here yesterday to receive a Yale degree.

He was not permitted to take his seat, however, until he had been given a ringing shout of welcome and the Chautauqua salute by the great assemblage of alumni. J. Pierpont Morgan was seated next to the Brazilian ambassador. He received the degree of doctor of laws, but was obliged to leave the dining hall before the speech-making began in order to return early to New York. He had planned to depart today for Europe.

In the course of a felicitous introduction of Secretary Taft, President Hadley said:

"The fourth speaker, in a certain sense, occupies the place of prominence. There was a man who had the luck of being put down fourth on the list of after dinner speakers. He said it always seemed to be a reflection, because he could not help remembering the historic incident that Peter asked Ananias to stand forth. (Laughter.) So we have to take special pains as the fourth man is liable to be struck by some kind of lightning."

"Bill Taft does not belong to the class," yelled one of the 75 men.

SECRETARY TAFT'S ADDRESS.

Secretary Taft said:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen, Men of Yale—I join in an expression of sorrow, deep sorrow, at the death of Grover Cleveland. (Applause.) He was a great man and a great president. (Applause.) He had the highest civic ideals, he had a rugged honesty, he had a high courage that makes him now happy in his death, as he leaves this life behind, respected and loved by all his countrymen, (applause), and there is no more fitting place to pronounce an eulogy on him than in a meeting of Yale men, actuated and inspired with Yale spirit. Last year I was compelled to take the place of Senator Knux and this year of Senator Spooner. Now it has been my experience with members of that distinguished body that they were sometimes willing to speak when the country did not desire to hear them, and why, now that we are all aching to hear from them, that they each desert their posts, I don't understand."

THE GREAT FLEET

Is Off for Trip Around the World

PROGRAM OF THE TOUR

Another Reception Will Be Held on Its Return

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The battleships Maine and Alabama, composing the special service squadron, which is preceding the Atlantic fleet around the world, sailed from Honolulu yesterday forenoon for Manila. They will touch at Guam on July 7, and are scheduled to arrive at Manila, July 21. The squadron is under command of Capt. Harbor of the Maine. The two battleships will to some extent act as a pathfinder squadron for the Atlantic fleet, which sails from San Francisco July 7. This fleet is beginning to assemble at San Francisco preparatory to its long cruise. The battleships Illinois and Wisconsin sailed from the Puget sound navy yard Monday for San Francisco. Docking at Hunter's Point has been completed and all the ships at Bremerton will be finished in a few days. The battleship Kansas, at Hunter's Point, was docked several days ago and had her hull scraped and painted in about 24 hours. This is an unusual record. The Kansas went in to the dock at high tide and the whole ship's company began to work on the hull. Stages were placed around the vessel and as the water in the dock was drawn off her hull was thoroughly scraped. By the time all the water was out of the drydock her hull had been finished and the work of painting was begun immediately. By high tide the next day the coat of paint was dry enough for the Kansas to leave the dock.

A despatch from Amoy, China, says that Admiral Sui, commanding the Pei-yang squadron of the Chinese navy, who has been there preparing for the welcome of the American battleship fleet, sailed yesterday. He has left the completion of arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors to Cecil A. V. Bowen, commissioner of customs, and Tzei Liu, the foreign residents of Amoy, have appointed a committee to cooperate in the entertainment. The first day will be given over to official visits, and on the second day the foreigners will entertain the Americans. On the third day there will be sports for the sailors. Nothing has been decided upon yet for the fourth day, but on the fifth day there will be a reception by the Amoy commissioners, and on the sixth day the officers of the fleet will receive on board.

Two ports are being considered by the navy department at which to hold the review of the fleet when it again returns to the United States. Hampton Roads, because of its magnificent harbor, is strongly favored by some of the officers of the navy whose judgment will have weight in the decision.

Others have urged the department to hold the long cruise at New York. One of the conditions which has led the navy department to consider seriously sending the fleet of Hampton Roads is that so far, there has been but slight interest shown by New York in having the review held at that port.

The time of the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet is so far distant that no decision has been reached.

ed," said Secretary Metcalf, when asked where the review would be held.

"Both New York and Hampton Roads have been considered. New York has not yet given evidence of very much interest in the matter."

Instructors have been sent from the navy department to the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, giving an outline of the practice to be held with the guns of the ships of that command.

Some of the preliminary work will be held in Manila upon the arrival of the fleet in Philippine waters on its journey around the world. It is expected that the practice itself will occur during the early part of November in Manila bay, and orders have been sent to the navy yard at Savite to prepare the floating targets and chart the ranges. There is sufficient space in Manila bay to conduct this target practice, which is usually held for review purposes off Guantanamo, Cuba. It is anticipated that the naval authorities will be able to conduct target practice with the big guns notwithstanding the circumstances of the cruise, which is observed so far to have as its one disadvantage its deprivation of the annual practice with small arms. This has always been conducted at the naval station at Orotunamo, but there are no facilities either on the Pacific coast or in the Philippines for having small arms practice for the benefit of the fleet.

The facilities at Manila bay are meagre, and it is out of the question to delay the ships sufficiently long to give all the men a chance at this kind of fire. This year's target practice in Manila bay will be a departure from the practice work in that the ships will go on the ranges without previous knowledge of the direction of spot, at which they will pass the targets.

This information will be in the form of sealed orders, which will be opened as the ships start for the practice. It is another step toward promoting efficiency in naval gunnery under conditions which are as exacting as those of actual warfare. Under such conditions it is not to be expected that as good percentages will be made as have been achieved at Guantanamo and Magdalena bay, but the practice will be more valuable.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—The presidential yacht Mayflower, with Mrs. Roosevelt and family on board, which left Oyster Bay yesterday, steamed into the lower harbor and anchored off the Fort Griswold house shortly after ten o'clock last night.

There was no communication with the shore. It is understood that in the morning Mrs. Roosevelt and the children will be transferred to the Sylph, which then will go through the draw-bridge and anchor abreast of the finish line of the minor races.

THE LATE EX-PRESIDENT

THE DEATH OF EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND HAS COME AS A SHOCK TO HIS ADMIRERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AND THEY ARE LEGION. EVEN HIS POLITICAL OPPONENTS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO HIS STATESMANSHIP AND WORTH. HIS DEATH HAS ELICITED A WAVE OF SYMPATHY SUCH AS IS RARELY BROUGHT OUT BY THE DEATH OF ANY PUBLIC MAN. IT HAS ALSO BROUGHT OUT HIGH ENCOMIUMS AS TO HIS CHARACTER AND ABILITY, THE SUCCESS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION DURING HIS TWO TERMS AS PRESIDENT AND WHAT HE ACCOMPLISHED FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

SOME OF THE LEADING MEN OF TODAY PRONOUNCE HIM ONE OF THE FOREMOST AMERICAN CITIZENS AND THE GREATEST STATESMAN OF HIS TIME.

AS PRESIDENT HE DISPLAYED QUALITIES OF STATESMANSHIP NOT SURPASSED BY ANY PRESIDENT SINCE LINCOLN. HIS VENEZUELAN MESSAGE VINDICATING THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND REPELLING AN ATTEMPTED ENCRoACHMENT ON VENEZUELA BY ENGLAND, WAS ONE OF THE GREATEST DEEDS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION. THIS MESSAGE WILL STAND AS A HISTORIC DOCUMENT PERTAINING TO THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND ITS APPLICATION.

THE VENEZUELAN TROUBLE

THE UNITED STATES HAS SEVERED DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH VENEZUELA ALTHOUGH THERE APPEARS TO BE NO CAUSE THAT WOULD JUSTIFY THIS COURSE. IT IS TRUE THAT PRESIDENT CASTRO HAS BEEN VERY SAUCY IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, BUT THAT WOULD NOT JUSTIFY THE UNITED STATES IN MAKING WAR UPON HIS LITTLE COUNTRY.

IF IT IS A MATTER OF WHIPPING PRESIDENT CASTRO WE HAD BETTER SEND DOWN A PRIZE FIGHTER OF THE STAMP OF MARTIN FLAHERTY OF THIS CITY RATHER THAN A WELL TRAINED ARMY BACKED UP BY A FLEET THAT IS BLUE-MOLDING FOR WANT OF A FIGHT.

SEEN AND HEARD

He was a stranger in the city, seeking amusement between trains. And so he wandered to the public library and after a few moments spent in the museum he entered the fiction room.

"I wonder what I'll read," he thought. A messenger boy entered and walked to the desk of Miss Minnie Neale, who has charge of the fiction room.

"Say," he said, "I want that book called 'The Whistling Gnat'." "What?" asked Miss Neale. "Don't you mean, 'The Turn of the Balance'?" by Brant Whitlock?" she asked.

"That's it," the messenger boy said. This amused the stranger. But he was to hear more. Soon another person, after searching the shelves for about an hour, inquired what had become of that new book, "The Lady of the Decoration." He was given "The Lady of the Decoration" and went away satisfied. Then came a request for "Double Quick" and the person received "Double Trouble" by Herbert Quick.

"Say," said a girl as she approached the desk, "I've been looking for that 'Box of Oranges' all afternoon, but I can't find it anywhere."

"Sure it isn't 'A Box of Orange Ribbons'?" Miss Neale asked. "Of course it is," said the girl. "How foolish of me."

Some one called for "The Author's Hologram" and got "The Literary Guild," while still another left the library with "The Beloved Vagabond" instead of "That Popular Tramp."

The stranger remained near Miss Neale's desk nearly an hour. When he went away he decided he had found the amusement he had sought—Kansas City Star.

The workman lay dying. With an hour or two to spare. And his pastor with the Bible. Had been called to see him there. The minister was ready. With the book to read a line that would light the unknown journey from the human to the divine. He had opened to the passage. When the workman, so weak. He could hardly raise a finger. And could only faintly speak. Gazed feebly at the Bible. Which the pastor held, and shook his head in disapproval.

Of the use of such a book. The pastor was astonished.

For the man was not the kind who scoffs at things eternal. And wants to go to his blind. The man made signs and whispered. He raised his thin, white hand in protest, and he struggled to have him understand. At last the pastor yielded. And without the book he prayed. For the workman had noticed that it wasn't union-made.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mrs. O. M. McNair of Tahlequah, Okla., has been appointed dispensary agent for the capital of the Cherokee nation. She is the first woman to hold such an office.

The Agnes B. Robinson Mesner prize in anatomy, given in competitive examination to a student of the second year at the Philadelphia Woman's Medical college, has just been awarded to Olivia Salamanca of Cavite, Philippine islands. Another member of the same class is Miss Ethel Das, from Fozzapore, a small town in the foothills of the Himalayas, near Lahore. Both these young women will practice medicine in their native countries.

The thirteen honor students in the class of seventy-five graduated this year from the College of Liberal Arts of Boston university are all women. Because they have attained the highest rank during the four years of their college course all thirteen will become members of the Phi Beta Kappa. The members of the Woman's Suffrage association are displeased because the "antis" are circulating the report that women suffrage tends to increase insanity. The statement was founded on the increase in Finland between the years 1860 and 1865. After many hot words a suffragist remembered that woman suffrage was not granted in Finland until the latter year. This stopped the dispute but not the industrious research of the suffragists, for now they announce that after the many years of woman suffrage in Wyoming there are only three lunatics in the entire state, and all three are men.

Mrs. Margaret K. Horn of Indiana has obtained a pension of $24 a month from congress in recognition of her services during the war with the Sioux Indians. A pension bill was under consideration awarding her $16 a month as the widow of a war veteran. In the debate it was brought out that Mrs. Horn had personally rendered the government good service, for while her husband was at the front during the civil war she herself in 1862 fought against the Sioux Indians at Fort Ridgely, Minn. Because of this service her pension was raised to $24.

There are even women physicians in New Orleans, and all of them are struggling to be admitted to membership in the Orleans Parish Medical society. So long as they are debarred from membership in this society they will not be received in the Louisiana State Medical society or in the American Medical association. The doctors who oppose the admission of these women into the parish society declare that in their belief the great professions are not suitable spheres for women.

PROF. MOLLOY

Addressed Boston College Graduates

Commencement week at Boston college was brought to a close last evening in Boston college hall, James St., where an audience of 1500 gathered to attend the graduation exercises, which besides the conferring of degrees upon the graduates, included the announcement of the prizes.

Seated on the platform with the graduates were a large number of alumni. A short time after the beginning of the exercises Archbishop O'Connell entered the hall and the entire audience stood while he was escorted to the platform.

Selections were rendered during the evening by the Boston college orchestra, under the direction of Michael Earls, S. J.

The diplomas were presented by the archbishop.

The address to the graduates was delivered by Hugh J. Molloy '83, vice president of the state normal school at Lowell.

Discourses on the "Centenary of the Diocese of Boston" were delivered by four seniors. John J. McMahon of Brockton talked on "The Material Growth," Edward J. Looby of South Boston spoke on "The Spiritual Growth," Henry T. Powers of Braintree on "The Civic Growth" and John T. O'Hare of Cambridge on "The Educational Growth."

In his address Mr. Molloy said: "It is by very singular chance and a happy circumstance that I find myself tonight, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of my own graduation from Boston college, called upon to address the graduates of the class of 1908."

"This is a small college, but those who have dwelt within its walls, love it; we love it for the lessons we have learned here; lessons from the good old text books of college curriculum, useful in life's daily pursuits and avocations; lessons, too, from the book of life, read in the lives of men whom it has been a blessed privilege to have come into close relations with."

Looks Over the Fire

House Site

BOTTOM

Had Been Lost or Fallen

Out of Site

Mr. McGraft jumped across the bridge into West Centralville this forenoon and examined the spot where the foundation is being laid for the new fire house in West Sixth street.

He had in his possession something that resembled a pocket battery and putting his finger to a spring a dozen or more steel wires shot out and buzzed as if a great current was in motion.

Men who were working near where the tips of the wires landed dropped their picks and shovels and declared

they had received an electric shock.

There was one fellow, however, who did not move. It took Mr. McGraft about three minutes to make the test and when he had finished he touched another pearl button spring and back went the wires into the battery like box.

A peculiar smile hovered about the lips of McGraft as one of the workmen approached him with the query:

"Might I ask what the d— you're doing with that thing. If that's one of those infernal machines I appoint myself a committee of one to ask you to vanish."

"I understand," said McGraft, paying no attention to what had been said,

"that your boss has said he can't strike bottom on this engine house lot. Now that's a pretty good story and you tell your boss that I admire his resourcefulness. My name is McGraft, the emphasis beginning with G."

"What are you driving at?" queried the fellow who feared the infernal machine.

"You noticed there was one man who did not move when I sprung the walshoo tester," said McGraft.

"Yes, I did notice that," said the workman. "The fellow's name is I. A.

M. Wise and he hasn't spoke since. I think the little devil you have in your pocket put the poor fellow out of com-

Mr. McGraft left the first speaker and went over to Mr. Wise with whom he held a whispered conversation. Upon separating McGraft turning to Wise, said: "It's the best thing I've heard of for a long time and if he gets away with it he's a corker."

home of the Keene passengers in the packing up the Graylock passed over them and landed some two miles nearer

Guilford at 11:30. This two miles gave

Messrs. Randall and Van Sleet a start on the way home that added them to a train that landed them here five hours

earlier than the pilot of the North Adams

The graduating exercises of St. Joseph's college and convent were held last night in the college hall in Merrimack street. An excellent musical and literary entertainment was carried out and certificates and medals were presented to the pupils.

THE ENTERTAINMENT.

The entertainment, which was given before the awards were made, proved to be a pleasing one. The first number consisted of a selection by the college orchestra. The second number was a scene lyric entitled "Roses et Fauvettes," and the following pupils from the convent participated: Jeanette Chevalier, P. Ange Ouellette, Isabelle Laro, Alice Plante, Irene Thibault, Anna Payer, Nola Payette, Charlotte Daoust, Cecile Geroux, Ella Dube, Blanche Baribeau, Gabrielle Choquette, Jeanne Daoust, Irene Labrecque, M. Napoleon Vigeant, Arthur St. Cyr, and Leo Lessard were the soloists in the chorus. Misses Andrea and Laetitia Payette played a duet, "Valse Venitienne," by Riquelme, and the orchestra gave several selections. Miss Alma Alexander was the accompanist.

Ubaldo Dubois, as the salubritarian, and Wilfrid Bi-bault, the valdeictorian, presented the following:

Burglar Frightened by Screams of Woman

SOMERVILLE, June 23.—There is a pair of size 7 shoes in the possession of the Somerville police for which they would like to find an owner. They were left by a man who entered the sleeping room of Miss Clara L. Gritter, 37 Adrian street, Somerville, yesterday morning. When she awakened, the intruder leaped upon her.

Her screams frightened him and he slipped down a ladder, which he had used on the trip. The ladder had been taken from a neighboring yard. In making his getaway he grabbed his hat and coat from the yard, but did not stop for the shoes. The Somerville police are searching for him, but the description given by Miss Gritter is rather vague.

UMPIRE JOSEPH O'BRIEN OF THE NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE, WHO UMPIRED YESTERDAY'S GAME.

Lowell Couldn't Bat at Right Time — 1000 Fans Had Great Fun With Worcester Manager

Jesse Burkett and his Worcester band were present at Washington Park yesterday afternoon and while Jesse did not play he was in uniform and occupied a conspicuous place on the coach line. He was in good humor and furnished plenty of fun for the fans.

A rather new and original manner of witnessing a ball game was brought to the attention of the writer this afternoon. A couple of young men equipped with field glasses occupied a position in the tower of the armory and managed to witness the game without paying any admission.

Umpire Joseph O'Brien called the game at 3:35 o'clock, there being about 1000 present.

FIRST INNING.

The visitors started the scoring in the first inning. In fact the second ball pitched was nailed over the fence into Middlesex street for a home run. Johnson was the first man up and the second ball delivered to him came in contact with his bat and went over the right field fence for a home run. Russell hit to Shannon and was out at first, while Reynolds struck out and Bradley hit to Wolfe and died at first. In the latter half of the inning Shannon fled out to Russell. Zinsar hit to Blackburn and was out at first and Magee fled out to Reynolds.

Score—Worcester 3, Lowell 0.

SECOND INNING.

There was no scoring in the second inning though the visitors succeeded in stealing a number of bases. Schwartz hit to left field for a single, stole second and went to third on a bad throw by Ainsmith.

Logan fled out to Magee, the latter making a wonderful circus catch. Blackburn drew a base on balls and stole second. Lavigne hit to Shannon and Schwartz was nailed at the plate. Lavigne stole second, but Leverage fled out to Duff.

In Lowell's half Goward struck out, and Duff followed with a single to center field. Wolfe fled out to Johnson and Vandergriff hit to Logan and was retired at first.

Score—Worcester 1, Lowell 0.

THIRD INNING.

In the third inning Johnson hit to Wolfe and was out at first. Russell fled out to Vandergriff. Reynolds made a single. Bradley fled out to Howard.

Lowell tied the score in the latter half of the third inning. Ainsmith, the first man up, fanned the batters. Warner popped a fly to Bradley. Shannon singled and stole second. "Ginger" was the next man up and he slammed the ball to center field for a hit scoring Shannon. Zinsar tried to steal second, however, and was nailed.

Score—Lowell 1, Worcester 1.

FOURTH INNING.

The visitors went out in quick order in the fourth inning. Schwartz fled to Vandergriff. Logan fled to Shannon and Blackburn singled to center field, but Lavigne put a close to the inning flying out to Howard.

Magee drew a base on balls. Howard sent him to second on a sacrifice. Lavigne caught Magee napping and threw him out at second. Duff struck out.

Score—Lowell 1, Worcester 1.

FIFTH INNING.

With two men out in the fifth inning the visitors batted in two runs. Leverage hit to Wolfe and failed to reach first. Johnson was second out on a fly to Shannon. Russell and Reynolds singled and scored on Bradley's two banger. Schwartz fled out to Shannon.

In the latter half of the inning Wolfe hit to Schwartz and was out at first. Vandergriff flied out to Lavigne and Ainsmith hit to Logan and was out at first.

Score—Worcester 3, Lowell 1.

SIXTH INNING.

In the sixth inning Logan hit to Wolfe and was out at first. Blackburn followed with a single to center field, but he was nailed in trying to steal but he looks suspicious at the bat.

"Joe" O'Brien is with us for a few days and his presence comes in the nature of a big relief. There was but one decision that the fans questioned and that was against the other side though it was no kick at all. O'Brien runs the game nicely.

Lynn wants Frank Shannon and it's a 100 to 1 that they'll get him if they show the coin. They can buy anything from the franchise down to a block of stock in the newly organized baseball association which boasts of a president and treasurer but no stock holders, if they will save the money.

Zinsar made his usual two hits yesterday, one of them a two banger, bringing in the only run. Now if one or two of the others would only try to help Zinsar by doing a little stick work we might get a few games.

"You Even up or you'll go on the bench," said Burkett to Catcher Lavigne. The latter invited Jesse to go out and try it himself, but Jesse simply glared at him and then told a funny story to the players on the bench while a lot of blue flame came through the apertures in Lavigne's mask.

Clark Griffith, manager of the New York baseball club of the "American League," yesterday tendered his resignation to Frank Farrell, owner of the team. Griffith asked to be relieved from the management of the team several days ago and following a conference with Mr. Farrell before the game with Philadelphia here today, he tendered his resignation to take effect at once. Griffith said that he was dissatisfied and felt that he should get out and give Mr. Farrell a chance to try another manager. He said there was no discussion among the players. Elberfeld is mentioned as a probable successor of Griffith.

The game scheduled for Haverhill on the morning of July 4 has been transferred to Worcester by agreement of the management of both teams. The afternoon game is scheduled in Worcester. A fear that the teams might be unable to make connections coupled with the fact that there will be an unusually large crowd of visitors in Worcester on the Fourth of July, caused the transfer of the morning game. The annual field day of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of the diocese of Springfield will be held in Worcester July 4. Excursions will run to Worcester from every town and city of the diocese, and total abstinence societies from cities outside of the diocese will attend. There will be as many as 30,000 visitors which inspires the hope of a tremendous crowd at the ball game.

should have batted, but instead the next man, Higgenbotham, went first up and struck out, whereupon Manager Ganzel of Cincinnati refused Emslie that Gilbert, not having batted in his regular order, was out in addition to Higgenbotham. But Emslie made the remarkable decision that, while Gilbert was out, "Hig" was not and, moreover, that "Hig" should im-pears on the batting list unless the error be discovered and the proper batsman replace him before a "time at bat" is recorded, in which case the batsman strikes called must be counted in the "time at bat" of the proper batsman. But only the proper batsman shall be declared out, and no runs shall be scored or bases run because of any act of the improper batsman provided the rule shall not be enforced unless the out be

Ganzel has protested the game. The baseball and athletic lawyers are still wrangling over the case of Pitcher Smeck of the University of Michigan, who was recently declared a professional by the faculty because he signed a contract with the Cincinnati Nationals, even though he had not received any money from the Reds. Probably a majority of the diamond

Michigan is concerned, without any question, Smeck had notice (either actual or presumptive) of the rules of the university when he became a student and an athlete there. Whatever he did with such notice and the ball must suffer the consequences. If he took his case into the courts, the courts would decide it against him along these exact lines. Of course, ball reporters use these terms interchangeably or otherwise incorrectly. In a "force out" some runner is always put out, but in a "fielder's choice" no runner is ever put out. For instance, when a runner is on first and the ball is hit and not caught on the fly the effort is made to put out the runner going from first to second. If the throw is late and the runner safe at second

RALPH ROSE PUTTING THE SHOT.

Rose, the sensational Pacific coast weight thrower, has been officially declared a pure white athletic soul by the Amateur Athletic union and consequently will go to London to represent the United States in the Olympic games. The Amateur Athletic union officials investigated the charges of professionalism against him and found them groundless. The charges were inspired by jealous detractors of Rose.

Rose, now a member of the Olympic club of San Francisco, is in his best athletic form and should prove a valuable point winner in the weight events for Uncle Sam's international team.

SEVERAL interesting points in baseball have come up for decision of late, and considerable talk has arisen over them. One question was that which arose in a Cincinnati-St. Louis game in the former city, when Umpire Emslie made what must, according to the rules, be considered an error, and a serious one. The case was as follows: Gilbert was at the bat when his side (St. Louis) was retired through the catching of Kometchy off third base on a bluff throw to second. When the St. Louis team again came to the bat, Gilbert mediately bat again, which he did, and again he struck out.

What the Official Rule Is.

There is no foundation for an excuse for such a decision by a veteran like Bob Emslie. The official rules cover this point. They hold (rule 61, section 1) that a batsman is out—

If he fails to take his position at the bat in the order in which his name appeared before the ball be delivered to the succeeding batsman. Should the batsman declared out under this section be the third man out and his side be thereby put out the proper batsman in the next inning shall be the player who would have come to bat had the players been put out by ordinary play in the preceding inning.

President Pulliam of the National league subsequently announced that he would sustain Emslie's decision.

sharp object to the faculty's ruling. It is stated that the signing of a contract to become a professional does not, by any logic or reasoning make a man a professional. But here is where the folks who criticize the Michigan faculty are wrong. If it is a rule of the Michigan authorities, and it is, that a man is deemed a professional when he agrees to become one at a future date, then he is a professional, so far as some other institution might later receive Smeck and classify him as an amateur. That would not alter his status at Michigan. There he will always be held to be a professional.

"Fielder's Choice" and "Force Out."

Considerable confusion seems to have arisen over the difference between a "fielder's choice" and a "force out." Many otherwise capable baseball reporters use these terms interchangeably or otherwise incorrectly. In a "force out" some runner is always put out, but in a "fielder's choice" no runner is ever put out. For instance, when a runner is on first and the ball is hit and not caught on the fly the effort is made to put out the runner going from first to second. If the throw is late and the runner safe at second the result is termed a "fielder's choice," but it does not figure as such in the summary. But if the runner from first is caught at second then a "force out" results.

Lesson For Lax Turf Governors.

SOLDIER KING, WINNER OF MOUNT WILSON RACE.

Soldier King is the dervy and enduring long distance runner of the Sixty-fourth company of coast artillery, Fort Riley, San Francisco, who recently won the great race up and down Mount Wilson, in the Sierra Madre range. The race was for a handsome gold medal offered by Richard K. Fox of New York, proprietor of the Police Gazette, whose son, Charles J. Fox, originated the race.

betting bills by the New York state legislature. Investments of almost $100,000,000, made largely on the strength of the public interest in racing in New York state, are injuriously affected by the legislators' action. Laxity in the rules of admission of bookmakers to the betting rings was largely responsible, in my opinion, for the arousing of public sentiment. When men who had brought tracks in other parts of the country into disrepute by their crooked trickery were allowed to operate "books" on New York state tracks the doom of the sport was foretold. The Jockey club is largely to blame for the adverse legislation, for it refused to bar questionable operators from its tracks.

American Stage Stars Are Afflicted With "London Craze"

(From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.)

IF you have not played in London you are not a really, truly big star. This is the now popular view among many American actors and actresses, and as a result the big and little folk of the stage are continually putting wires in order to achieve the distinction claimed to be associated with a transatlantic engagement.

Certain it is that the number of American players that appear abroad is increasing each year. Some players are willing to accept less money for their services for a foreign engagement, so anxious are they to go. Then, too, a low salary list often makes it possible to continue the run of the play if it fails to make money, and thus is escaped the odium of a summary closing and the consequent newspaper account of how "Marguerite Euphrasia Stubbs failed gloriously." During the next stage year an imposing number of American players will appear in England and on the continent.

Maude Adams will be seen in London and Paris as Viola in "Twelfth Night" and as Lady Babbie in her former great success, "The Little Minister," by James M. Barrie. She will be one of the American stars for whom Charles Frohman has arranged a series of important bookings on the continent. Among the foreign cities which Mr. Frohman will invade are Vienna, Berlin, Paris, Hamburg, London and possibly Munich.

Mr. Frohman recently visited all these cities to complete his arrangements and on returning to London gave out an interview, one of the very few that have escaped from him since he became the leader among the world's dramatic producers.

"I am convinced my new scheme of presenting English and American plays and players in large cities on the continent will be successful," said Mr. Frohman. "I found great interest taken in English and American drama in the large continental cities, particularly in Berlin, where the proposed tours probably will all begin."

"There has been a marked development in understanding between the continental and English speaking peoples. Since I first visited the continent a striking change of attitude toward theatrical things from the west has come over both Germans and French, a change due primarily without doubt to the annual American invasion."

"I found Berlin distinctly curious and well informed about American plays. Theatrical managers there were most willing to turn over their theaters to me for a definite period each season."

"It is my intention to present plays on the continental tour first in English, but also in German and French wherever I attain success. My plan is to present not adaptations, which are seldom good, but plays rewritten as well as translated by recognized continental playwrights.

NELLIE MAE BREWSTER

"It may be of interest to state that in such cases royalties will be divided between the original authors and the foreign translators. I think drama in English should take the place in the world that French drama and German opera now hold and should be given not only in English but in other great tongues."

To Play in London.

Annie Russell will head an all American company that will present "Paid in Full," the Eugene Walter success, in London. The entire production will be sent from New York.

Marie Doro will again appear in London as a star. She is now there undergoing vocal training to strengthen her voice. She last appeared there with William Gillette in "Clarice," which he wrote and later produced in this country. "Clarice," a failure, was kept alive for a run in order to save Mr. Gillette's reputation as a playwright from receiving a severe jolt.

Nellie Mae Brewster.

Nellie Mae Brewster, who sang the role of Lady Vivian two years ago in the revival of "Robin Hood," is to star next season in a new Richard Carle musical comedy, "The Boy and the Girl."

Miss Brewster is an Iowa girl who as a singer won wide attention in her native state and in New York before taking up stage work. She is a pupil of Marie S. Bissell, the New York vocal instructor, who early recognized the possibilities of Miss Brewster's soprano voice.

Miss Brewster after appearing in "Robin Hood" was attracted by a liberal offer to enter vaudeville and she toured the country successfully, giving an imitation of Fritzi Scheff in "Mile Modiste" that Miss Scheff herself witnessed and praised. A Boston critic in describing Miss Brewster's performance said, "The dainty and musical Miss Brewster is as Fritzi Scheffish as Fritzi Scheff herself." Henry W. Savage signed Miss Brewster for the leading role in the English musical comedy "The Little Michus" and after a week of rehearsal she was taken ill with tonsillitis and forced to relinquish the role. As a result the play failed when put on at the Garden Theater, New York.

Miss Brewster has a soprano voice of rare sweetness, and Charles Henry Miller, the New York critic, states that her range is unsurpassed by that of any soprano in musical comedy today, which must be considered very high praise.

Miss Brewster is the daughter of an Iowa newspaper editor and at different times resided at Creston and Ottumwa and later in Illinois, at Joliet.

for An Orphanage

Deeds Passed Today—It is One of the Most Picturesque Estates in Lowell

The Frederick Ayer estate at the corner of Pawtucket and School streets, one of the finest and best appointed residences in the city, has been purchased by the Oblate Fathers and will be transformed into an orphanage. While the fathers have contemplated the purchase of the property for some time the matter was kept rather quiet until yesterday when the final papers were passed.

The estate consists of an elegant and mammoth brick building, stable, greenhouse, etc., while the grounds surrounding the house are spacious and well shaded.

Owing to the excellent workmanship put into the house the work of altering the building will not necessarily be very difficult.

Lowell is in great need of a Catholic orphanage. St. Peter's being far too small to accommodate all the worthy applicants for admission. The Oblate Fathers are to be congratulated upon their enterprise in the cause of such a worthy charity.

The shell can be repaired in time for the race.

WOMAN KIDNAPPED
AND HELD ON DEMAND OF $10,000

NEW YORK, June 25.—Mrs. Eleanor Holckweh, the octogenarian of South Amboy, N. J., who, as stated yesterday, was kidnapped by autoists eight weeks ago, presumably because of a will she made, which was not in favor of certain relatives, has been located in the upper part of this state.

Dr. Edward E. Haines, the medical and legal adviser of Mrs. Philip Renter, the woman's grandfather, made this declaration yesterday, adding that negotiations for the woman's release were under way. Just what part of the state she is in Dr. Haines would not tell, nor would he divulge the names of the persons alleged to have kidnapped Mrs. Holckweh.

"We know who they are," he said, "but now is not the time to divulge their identity, or to give any information other than that after State Detective Hoffman and others have scoured the city after city for eight weeks, the search has been rewarded."

SILENT ON $10,000 DEMAND.

Dr. Haines could not discuss that phase of the case which deals with the receipt by Mrs. Renter, with whom Mrs. Holckweh lived at South Amboy, of a letter from the kidnappers demanding $10,000 for her grandmother's release.

Another large crowd went out to Washington park this afternoon to witness the second game between Lowell and Worcester. The Worcester team, managed by Sharrett, gave the French battery, Rivard and Lemieux, a chance to show what they could do in double harness while the Worcester team had Owens on the slab and McCune on the receiving end.

President Winn announced that he was trying to get the Boston Americans to come to Lowell on July 6, the Bostonians having an open date on that day. He also announced that inasmuch as Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show will be in Lowell on the eighth of next month the game scheduled to be played in this city will be transferred.

Umpire Joseph O'Brien called the game at 3.15 o'clock, the batting order being as follows:

SEA VACATION

CUNARD LINE GIVES LAME EM-PLOTEE A TRIP ACROSS.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Crippled Tom O'Leary, the telephone operator on the Cunard pier, who has watched the Lusitania and Mauretania arrive and depart a dozen times wishing that he might be a passenger, was awarded a vacation yesterday when the ship pulled out of her pier.

The lad goes as the guest of the Cunard company and will have first-class accommodations. He was told he would be used on the ship as the switchboard operator, but the officials of the company gave instructions that he should be left entirely carefree and given a thoroughly good time.

Just before the liner pulled out the employees on the pier and vessel raised a purse of $40 so that Jerry might have spending money.

In Lowell's half Howard struck out. Duff hit to Logan and was out at first and Wolfe struck out.

Score—Worcester 1, Lowell 0.

THIRD INNING.

The Worcester team jumped on Mr. Rivard with both feet in the third inning and slammed in four runs. Reynolds and Bradley went out, Vandergriff to first base. Then the fun started. Schwartz got a nice one and he swatted it to left field for two bases. Logan scored him with a single. Blackburn made a two-bagger scoring Logan. McCune drew a base on balls and then Owens made a single, scoring Blackburn. At this point Rivard was sent to the bench and Kenniston substituted. Johnson singled and scored McCune but Russell struck out.

Vandergriff singled but was forced out by Lemieux who hit to Logan. Kenniston drew a base on balls, but Shannon struck out and Zinsar hit to Blackburn forcing Kenniston at second.

Score—Worcester 5, Lowell 0.

In the latter half of the inning Lemieux, Kenniston and Shannon struck out.

Score—Worcester 5, Lowell 2.

PARIS PAPER

PAYS GLORIOUS TRIBUTE TO CLEVELAND.

PARIS, June 25.—The Temps in its issue today says it regards Grover Cleveland as one of the greatest figures in America and it concludes a long review of his career with these words:

"Mr. Cleveland owed his success to his character, rather than to his talents. He proved during a long public life that honesty of will is not necessarily synonymous with stupidity. He administered less for his party than for his country. The lofty qualities of his character which are only too rare today should become an example to statesmen everywhere. His firmness and integrity won him the sympathy of the political friends whom he refused to serve and of the adversaries whom he fought."

JOHN P. MAHONEY

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE

The United Irish League will meet tomorrow evening at A. O. H. hall.

ISAAC E. WOTTON.

Isaac E. Wotton appeared in the superior criminal court at East Cambridge this afternoon and was arraigned before Judge Alken at 4.15 o'clock, having been summoned by the district attorney's office to appear on the complaint charging him with having accepted a bribe.

Mr. Wotton was convicted at the last session at the superior criminal court before Judge Bell. The defence took exceptions to the verdict of the jury and the case went to the supreme court. The supreme court has not yet ruled on these exceptions, but District Attorney Higgins wanted sentence imposed on Mr. Wotton at this session of the court regardless of whether or not the report was received from the supreme court.

George R. Swasey of Boston, Wotton's counsel, said he had not received notice of the case until yesterday and he asked that the report of the verdict be delayed so that Mr. Wotton might have a chance to argue his case.

Judge Alken said: "I intended to adjourn this court tomorrow but will keep open one week longer and I will see Judge Bell, Saturday, and tell him I have kept the court open one week longer because the district attorney wants to have sentence pronounced on Wotton at this time."

Wotton will be sentenced next week by Judge Bell.

Will Attend

PRINCETON, N. J., June 25.—Arrangements for the funeral of Grover Cleveland were practically completed today and before the sun sets tomorrow the body of Princeton's distinguished citizen will have been lowered into the grave in the family plot in Old Princeton's cemetery where lies the body of Ruth, the first born of the Cleveland children.

Mrs. Cleveland is bearing her grief with the utmost fortitude and is directing the details of the funeral. With her in the Cleveland home at "Westland" during the night were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Watson Glider of New York; John Finley, president of the college of the city of New York, intimate friends of the family and Cleveland F. Bacon, a nephew of the former president.

Mrs. Cleveland did not retire until late last night but arose at an early hour today and spent some time in the open air alone on the veranda.

Among other relatives expected to arrive today are two of Mr. Cleveland's sisters, Miss Rose Cleveland of New York who was mistress of the White House before President Cleveland's marriage and Mrs. M. B. Bacon, wife of an architect of Toledo, O. Another sister, Mrs. Mary Cleveland Hoyt is expected tomorrow from Omaha, Neb.

The hour for the funeral has been fixed at five o'clock in the afternoon to give those who live at a distance an opportunity to reach Princeton. Services will be simple and unostentatious and will be conducted with extreme privacy if the wishes of Mrs. Cleveland are carried out.

Historic Princeton in common with the state and nation is mourning the death of her distinguished citizen. Flags are at half staff and emblems of mourning throughout the college town bear mute testimony of the nation's loss.

Mr. Cleveland's body will be buried in a heavy casket with silver handled bars. A silver plate bears this simple inscription:

"Grover Cleveland, March 15, 1837—June 25, 1908."

APPOINTED FOR AN AMERICAN CITY.

ST. ALBANS, Vt., June 25.—In accordance with the new immigration regulations of the Dominion of Canada James Stail of Montreal has been appointed immigration inspector with headquarters in this city to examine all emigrants entering Canada over the Central Vermont railroad. Under the new rule inspectors are to be stationed at all important points along the international boundary line from Halifax to Vancouver. Those stationed at ocean ports will be ordered to see that no immigrant is allowed to enter the dominion unless he has $25 in cash and until he has passed a medical examination. This is the first time that Canadian immigration inspectors ever have been stationed in American cities.

PAN ANGLICAN

CONGRESS WINDS UP WITH BIG COLLECTION.

LONDON, June 25.—St. Paul's cathedral was packed to its full capacity yesterday for the thanksgiving service that marked the conclusion of the Pan-Anglican congress, which has been in session in London this week. Thousands of people waited for hours outside the cathedral in the hope of getting in, but every available seat was occupied by persons who had been given tickets.

The service, which was unique in character, came to an end with a procession of over two hundred archbishops and bishops from all parts of the world. The services were attended by the royal robes of crimson, blue, purple and silver as they marched up the central aisle, two by two, and laid the hands on the altar of their respective dioceses as they passed. The total amount of the collection reaches $18,640.

The next few days will be given up by the delegates to the congress to social festivities, the principal of which is the garden party to be given by the Prince and Princess of Wales at Marlborough House today.

The patient did not suffer from the heat as he did Tuesday night, as the entire night was cool and refreshing. The possibility of an immediate operation has passed. MIMIC WARFARE

Militia Still Practising in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, June 25.—The details of attack and defense under actual war conditions with the varying methods of repulsing assaults and proceeding against defenses which have been found to offer the best chance of success were still further impressed upon the members of the state militia and regular coast artillery during the conduct of today's manoeuvres in the war game among the forts in Boston harbor. The guns in the forts were sighted on craft moving some distance away representing warships and the correctness of the gunners aim noted by the observation officers to be included in the figures which, averaged determined the success or failure of the soldiers attempts at fulfilling movements under supposed war conditions.

BALL PLAYER

ELOPED WITH FAIR DAMEL FROM NEW BEDFORD.

NEW BEDFORD, June 25.—Announcement of the marriage at Taunton of Miss Jennie Dymond, the 20-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. Dymond, of 155 Acushnet avenue, New Bedford, to Percy Solbra, the stalwart first baseman of the Fall River New England league baseball team, has revealed a romantic story of love at first sight, a hurried wedding of less than two months, and an elopement.

Solbra fell head over heels in love as soon as he saw Miss Dymond. The couple met frequently after May 1 and Solbra never played at Fall River or New Bedford that did not see the games in spite of protests.

Two days Miss Dymond's employer said she must remain in the office and threatened if she attended the Fall River game he would discharge her. She ignored the threat and went to the game. To Solbra she told what her employer had said. Solbra said: "Marry me, and you won't care what he does."

They took a car to Taunton, where a clergyman performed the marriage ceremony.

C. F. Richards Arrested at Winthrop

HE IS WANTED FOR FORGERY

Once Posed as English Peer

BOSTON, June 25.—C. Francis Richards, alleged to be known in all of the principal cities of the United States and in England as an expert forger, was arrested in Winthrop yesterday by Inspector Wolf and Special Officers Angel and Laughlin of Boston, assisted by the Winthrop police.

Some days ago the New York police wired Chief Inspector Watts of Boston that Richards was wanted in that city, and he was thought to be in this vicinity.

Chief Watts at once took up the trail which located the wanted man. He was brought to Boston last night and the New York officials notified.

Richards' London record says he was born in New York state in 1825, but against him says he was born in Devonshire, Eng., in 1812.

The files at police headquarters say that for a long time Richards posed as Lord Ashburton to many well-known Bostonians. In 1855 he was employed in the Bank of England, and he gave way to temptation.

On Aug. 8, 1870, while under arrest for alleged forgery he escaped and as far as known was never punished for the alleged offense, for which he was then under arrest, though a reward of $2500 was offered for his capture.

In 1880 in San Francisco he was sentenced for forgery to eight years, the case against him being pushed by the Bank of Nevada, for four years later he was released because he led the officials to believe he was on the verge of death.

At one time Richards was said to have accumulated $50,000 as a sporting man in England, where he had become known in racing, yachting and fighting circles.

He became known in Boston in 1878, when he married a Miss Saville. She had some property and the couple traveled in style all through this country.

To Inspector Douglas of the Winthrop police, who assisted in the arrest yesterday, Richards said at one time he passed himself off as an American ambassador and received a life sentence for so doing, but how true that is can only be surmised.

Once he was given 10 years for forgery in England, but was let out on parole.

For some time he has been living on Coral avenue, Winthrop, and when arrested yesterday was enjoying a ride in an automobile which he had hired for one week.

Time is the Test

The Testimony of Lowell People Stands the Test

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out which misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Lowell people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Dean's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Lizzie Nevins, a proprietor of grocery and variety store at 19 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass., says: "Some six years ago, I gave for publication a statement recommending Dean's Kidney Pills and it has done me off and on for some time. Today I can state that the cure has been permanent. I have since known others who have used Dean's Kidney Pills through my recommendation and received great benefit. I prepared them at Ellingwood & Co's drug store."

JUDGE DEWEY

Severely Snubbed by Judge Bond in Court

ACCUSED OF NOT TELLING TRUTH

In a Breach of Promise Case

BOSTON, June 25.—Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey, counsel for Annie Manley, the negroess who sought to recover $2500 from Prof. Philippe B. Marcou for alleged breach of promise, and Judge Bond of the superior court at East Cambridge had a heated discussion yesterday afternoon when Mr. Dewey appeared to argue his motion for a new trial.

The discussion had gone on for some time when Judge Bond remarked, in substance, "You stand there and talk when you know you are not telling the truth."

"I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth," was the heated reply of Attorney Dewey. The argument was ended when Judge Bond overruled the motion for a new trial and Mr. Dewey left the courtroom, apparently much incensed.

When the time arrived for the argument at 4 o'clock Judge Bond indicated that Mr. Dewey might proceed with his argument. The latter asserted that he had received unjust treatment at the hands of the presiding justice, Judge Bond, and he particularly specified the judge's talk to him before the jury when the case was being tried, which, he said, tended to prejudice the jury to the detriment of his client.

Mr. Dewey referred to a case which he tried before Judge Bond three years ago and during which, he claimed, he had had similar trouble. Judge Bond interrupted Mr. Dewey, saying in effect that that case was not open for discussion.

Attorney Dewey replied that he simply mentioned the former case in order to explain what he considered was wrong in this case. Then Mr. Dewey started to tell what he believed the duty of the court was.

"I know my duty as well as you do and I do not intend to take instruction from you," replied Judge Bond.

"With all due respect to your office," retorted ex-Judge Dewey, "it makes no difference whether you have been on the bench 30 or 60 years. A judge can always learn something from a member of the bar."

"If you have anything to say regarding these exceptions and your motion for a new trial, say it. If you have not we'll go home," said Judge Bond.

Mr. Dewey proceeded along similar lines as before and Judge Bond interrupted him. "You stand and talk when you know you are not telling the truth," he said.

With great emphasis Attorney Dewey retorted: "I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth." The heated reply of Attorney Dewey. 6 O'CLOCK PLANS CHANGED Mr. Lemkin Will Build Two Houses Instead of One

In the report of the permits to build as published in The Sun a few days ago it was read that Morris Lemkin would build a four family dwelling on the south side of Bridge street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The report as it appeared in The Sun was absolutely correct and when read by certain parties in Bridge street there was a hollow merriment that resulted in Mr. Lemkin changing his plans, not because he was obliged to, but because he preferred doing so rather than to have any trouble about it. It was a case with Mr. Lemkin of pursuing the line of least resistance.

CRIMSON AND BLUE 85 LIVES LOST Each Waved in Victory at College Races This Morning

Yale Wins the Four-Oared Contest, But Harvard Takes Honors in Freshmen Race—Weather Conditions Perfect—A Great and Enthusiastic Crowd Cheered the Struggling Oarsmen

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—A crisp north wind with a refreshing coolness, sombre skies overhead and a fleet of large proportions of all sorts of pleasure craft swinging at anchor in the Thames river, was the setting for the morning on this the annual regatta day of the Harvard and Yale crews. In the streets of New London the crowds of over night enthusiasts bore the college colors proudly and with animation, all expectantly hopeful, not only of witnessing three fine races, but in seeing Secretary Taft, who has been in New Haven since last Monday in connection with the commencement at Yale. He arrived here with his class, that of 1878, this morning to witness the big race. The class arrived in a special car attached to the special train leaving New Haven for New London. It is expected he will return to New Haven immediately after the races.

AT THE QUARTERS.
At the quarters of the crews the first men up poked their noses into a stiff northeast breeze, the difference in direction there from the lower stretches of the river being one of the peculiarities of the course. The sultry air of yesterday had been blown away and the thunderstorm of last night was looked upon as a good omen. North-easterly breezes here mostly die with the sun. As the two morning races were to be over the same water, that is from the navy yard to the drawbridge, instead of as in past years from Red Top for the four, and from the Navy Yard to the bridge for the freshmen eight, the inquiries of oarsmen before 9 o'clock was as to what might be expected there.

All the big fleet of yachts on the course hoisted signal flags when "colors" boomed out from the Saxonian, the flagship of the Philadelphia Corinthian Yacht club and almost a twinkling the two mile course was fringed with every color of the rainbow.

THE ROOSEVELT PARTY.
The Mayflower, which brought Mrs. Roosevelt and her family over from Oyster Bay, anchored off the Fort Greveland house during the late evening yesterday, and this morning soon after "colors" had been signalled to the fleet of pleasure craft, the family was transferred to the Sylph, which in line with the other craft, moved up through the drawbridge. This was the point at which the morning races were so scheduled to be finished, and the anchorage of the Sylph was most admirable.

SCENE ON SHORE.
As full of interest as the scene was aloft, the excitement began early in town, where the people take the annual regatta as much as a matter of course. They were anxious to see Secretary Taft, and when at the railroad station it was definitely announced that the secretary was coming, the crowd swarmed up to the ticket booths, inquiring about observation trains for the west bank tickets for which were disposed of two days ago. Everybody wanted to be near and see the big secretary and his special car on the train over from the college city.

The morning crowds were loyal to their universities and flag banners and colored megaphones quickly made the moving groups clusters of bright colors. Everybody was happy, and the lively breeze disturbed nobody, for all felt that the conditions for the morning races were good.

FOUR OARED RACE.
The four oared race which Yale won was called first and the crews were ready at their quarters in ample time to drop down to the navy yard for a prompt start.

No delay followed. The river was pretty good to look at although the breeze had freshened to a six mile an hour by 10 o'clock the rival crews were aloft in the whistles tooting in chorus in response to the cheering of the crowds as the observation trains neared the navy yard. The crowd on the west bank trains cheered and the Yale adherents broke into the "Yell" song to a band accompaniment. At 10:52 the crack of the revolver started the four, Harvard breaking the water first and shooting the shell a little into the lead.

Both crews hit up the stroke to Mr. Harvard was the first off. Half way to the half mile Harvard had a lead of a half a length. Nearing the flag of the first half mile Harvard maintained her lead.

After passing the mile mark both crews seemed on fairly even terms, Harvard leading by less than a length. When the mile and half mark was reached Harvard had increased her lead slightly.

In the stretch Yale spurred and reached the lead slightly.

Half way between the mile and half mark and the finish Yale spurred, Yale pulled a steady stroke while Harvard appeared to be exhausted. Nearing the finish Yale led by half a length. Yale's lead was steadily increasing near the finish, and a change had to be made. Yale won by three lengths.

Both crews appeared to be in good condition at the finish. Time, 10:33:15.

To show their excellent condition the men in the Yale boat cheered first for Yale and then for Harvard, in tones. Not to be outdone, the Harvard crew did likewise.

THE FRESHMEN RACE.
NEW LONDON, June 25.—The race officials returned to the drawbridge and both freshmen crews entered their shells preparatory to their two mile contest. The river conditions remained unchanged. The crews quickly took position. Yale had west side, Harvard the east. Without much delay the word was given.

At start Harvard again leading. Both crews spurred at once and for the first few strokes splashed wildly. They then settled down to a long, even swing of about 30 to the minute. On nearing the half mile Harvard led by half a length.

Half mile was made in fast time, Harvard reaching it in 1:32; Yale 1:54. After passing the half mile mark both crews struck a little rough water, but the crew was so good that there was very little splashing.

The pace slackened between the half mile and mile mark and Yale pulled up nearly even.

Just before reaching the mile, Yale spurred and obtained a slight advantage. The race, however, at this point was a pretty one. At the mile Harvard had a lead half a length, and passed between the flag in 4:33 seconds. Yale was two seconds later.

85 LIVES LOST Frightful Ocean Disaster at Corunna, Spain

Steamship Larache a Death Trap—Victims Were All From Argentine Republic

CORUNNA, Spain, June 25.—Latest reports show that 85 persons are missing as a result of the sinking of the steamship Larache. The rescued number 6. The captain sank with his ship. Most of the passengers on the Larache were residents of the Argentine republic. The Larache proved a veritable death trap when she struck. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling in the water. The small boats were either smashed or capsized. A fleet of fishing boats rushed to the rescue but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interfered with their work. The fishermen succeeded in rescuing 65 persons. In addition to the captain the ship's doctor and the first officer were drowned. The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning and most of those who are saved are without clothing. It has been ascertained that the number of passengers and crew of the Larache totaled 91. Sixty-five persons are known to have been saved but the fate of the other eighty-five is not known and it is feared that most of them perished.

TRIDUUM OPENED BOTH DROWNED At St. Peter's Church Husband and Wife in Last Evening Death Embrace

The triduum in honor of the feast of the Sacred Heart opened at St. Peter's church last evening and was attended by a large congregation, notwithstanding the inclement weather. Rev. W. George Mullin, parish director of the Sacred Heart League, officiated and congregational singing was a feature of the services. The sermon was an eloquent effort and was delivered by Rev. Austin D. Mulley, of Boston. Benediction of the blessed sacrament closed the services.

This afternoon and evening will be given over to the hearing of confessions while tomorrow evening the solemn closing of the triduum will take place. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. H. Richards, S. J., of Boston college, an eloquent pulpit orator.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Locked in each other's arms, in plain view of hundreds on shore and upon the awning decks of anchored yachts, Captain Otto Aubert and his wife were drowned last night on the foot of East Twenty-ninth street, in the slip known as "The Drowners."

Five thousand spectators watched the electric lights of the police launch and thirty of the yachts as they dragged for the bodies. They were found finally not more than fifty feet from the barge Edge wood, which Captain Aubert commanded. Fully fifty persons have been drowned off the "Dumps" as that part of the river front is called, in the "drowners" slip in the last twenty years. No tragedy has caused the sorrow of this sad happening. The spectators murmured a sympathy when the bodies, still firmly held in a last embrace, were brought to the surface.

LEAPED TO RESCUE HELPLESS.

It was to save the life of her helpmate that Mrs. Aubert sacrificed her own. He had fallen overboard and she leaped in after him. For more than thirty years they had navigated the rivers and sound when their boat, the Edgewood, laden to her deck-beams with grain in bulk, reached the moorings at the foot of East Twenty-ninth street yesterday. The grain was partially discharged when Mrs. Aubert rang the supper bell at 7 p. m.

After supper the grizzled captain, once a Norwegian soldier, whose universal good nature had gained for him the sobriquet of "Happy Otto," lighted his corn-cob pipe and tuned his banjo. He was an expert on this instrument, and an hour he entertained his wife. Finally he sang his wife's favorite, "When are you coming home, my dear?" The study little cabin had grown stuffy, and the captain suggested "get a little air on deck." He led her to the rail and leaned upon a gay wave with his weight just reached his side. Before he had a motion to save her she was

If Improvement Continues He May Leave Hospital in a Week's Time — Operation Will Be Necessary After His Recovery

CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—The condition of Rep. James Sherman continues to improve. He spent a very comfortable night at Lakeside hospital where he was taken Tuesday morning suffering severely from an acute attack of gall stones. He enjoyed a peaceful slumber for four continuous hours. He did not become restless until 1.30 a. m., from which time he slept intermittently. The patient did not suffer from the heat as he did Tuesday night, as the entire night was cool and refreshing. The possibility of an immediate operation has passed. The only thing which caused the attending

Militia Still Practising in Boston Harbor

BOSTON, June 25.—The details of attack and defense under actual war conditions with the varying methods of repulsing assaults and proceeding against defenses which have been found to offer the best chance of success were still further impressed upon the members of the state militia and regular coast artillery during the conduct of today's maneuvers in the war game among the forts in Boston harbor. The guns in the forts were sighted on craft moving some distance away representing warships and the correctness of the gunners aim noted by the observation officers to be included in the figures which averaged determined the success or failure of the soldiers attempts at fulfilling movements under supposed war conditions.

RAINBOW SOCIAL

ENTERTAINMENT AND SUPPER AT WORTHEN ST. CHURCH.

The rain and the lightning and the thunder didn't deter those who had heard of the excellent entertainment to be served at the Worthen Street M. E. church, last evening, from attending and they went there in goodly numbers. They were glad, too, they went as the supper was even better than had been pictured. It was served under the direction of the Epworth League, by Mrs. Robert Gilmore, Mrs. Thomas Brady and a corps of willing and able assistants. It was a rainbow social and all the colors of the rainbow were in evidence about the various tables. In charge of the different tables were: Mrs. Hugh Green, red; Mrs. May Irvine, orange; Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, yellow; Mrs. Henry Quinby, green; Mrs. Susie Jessop, blue; Mrs. Jessie Todd, violet.

Following the supper an entertainment was given. The program was as follows: Vocal solo, Mrs. Eugene Russell; reading, Miss Gertrude Brady; solo, Miss Jennie P. BALL PLAYER

ELOPED WITH FAIR DAMSEL FROM NEW BEDFORD.

NEW BEDFORD, June 25.—Announcement of the marriage at Taunton of Miss Jennie Diamond, the 19-year-old daughter of Mrs. J. Diamond of 151 Acushnet avenue, New Bedford, to Percy Sullivan, the starward first baseman of the Fall River New England league baseball team, has revealed a romantic story of love at first sight, a hurried elopement of less than two months, and an elopement.

Sullivan fell head over heels in love as soon as he saw Miss Diamond. The couple met frequently after May 1 and Sullivan never played at Fall River or New Bedford that she did not go to the games in spite of protests. Tuesday Miss Diamond's employer said she must remain in the office and that she would attend the Fall River game. She would accompany him. She ignored the threat and went to the game. To Sullivan she told what her employer had said. Sullivan said: "Marry me, and you won't care what he does." They took a car to Taunton, where a clergyman performed the marriage ceremony.

C. F. Richards Arrested at Winthrop

HE IS WANTED FOR FORGERY

Once Posed as English Peer

BOSTON, June 25.—C. Francis Richards, alleged to be known in all of the principal cities of the United States and in England as an expert forger, was arrested in Winthrop yesterday by Inspector Wolf and Special Officers Angel and Laughlin of Boston, assisted by the Winthrop police. Some days ago the New York police wired Chief Inspector Watts of Boston that Richards was wanted in that city, and he was thought to be in the vicinity.

Chief Watts at once took up the trail which located the wanted man. He was brought to Boston last night and the New York officials notified.

Richards' London record says he was born in New York state in 1843, but Chief Watts says the man is not more than 60 years of age. Another record against him says he was born in Devonshire, Eng., in 1842.

The files at police headquarters say that for a long time Richards posed as Lord Ashburton, a nobleman, and was known in London, and it is alleged that while so employed he gave way to temptation.

On Aug. 6, 1873, while under arrest for alleged forgery he escaped, and as far as known was never punished for the alleged offense, for which he was then under arrest, though a reward of $2500 was offered for his capture.

In 1880 in San Francisco he was sentenced for forgery to eight years, the case against him being pushed by the Bank of Nevada, for four years later he was released because he led the officials to believe he was on the verge of death.

At one time Richards was said to have accumulated $9,000 as a sporting man in England, where he had become known in racing, yachting and fighting circles.

He became known in Boston in 1878, when he married a Miss Saville. She had some property and the couple traveled in style all through this country.

To Inspector Douglas of the Winthrop police, who assisted in the arrest yesterday, Richards said at one time he passed himself off as an American ambassador and received a life sentence for so doing, but how true that is can only be surmised.

Once he was given 10 years for forgery in England, but was let out on parole.

For some time he has been living on Coral avenue, Winthrop, and when arrested yesterday was enjoying a ride in an automobile which he had hired for one week.

The test of time is what tells the tale. The public soon finds out when misrepresentations are made, and merit alone will stand the test of time.

Lowell people appreciate merit, and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Dean's Kidney Pills; they do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

Mrs. Lizzie Nevins, a proprietor of grocery and variety store at 129 Lawrence st., Lowell, Mass., says: "Some six years ago, I gave for publication a statement recommending Dean's Kidney Pills after they cured me of backache which had annoyed me off and on for some time. Today I can state that the cure has been permanent. I have since known others who have used Dean's Kidney Pills through my recommendation and received great benefit. JUDGE DEWEY

ACCUSED OF NOT TELLING TRUTH

In a Breach of Promise Case

BOSTON, June 25.—Ex-Judge Henry S. Dewey, counsel for Annie Manley, the negroess who sought to recover $25,000 from Prof. Philippe B. Marcou for alleged breach of promise, and Judge Bond of the superior court at East Cambridge had a heated discussion yesterday afternoon when Mr. Dewey appeared to argue his motion for a new trial.

The discussion had gone on for some time when Judge Bond remarked, in substance, "You stand there and talk when you know you are not telling the truth."

"I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I do not tell the truth," was the heated reply of Attorney Dewey. The argument was ended when Judge Bond overruled the motion for a new trial and Mr. Dewey left the courtroom, apparently much incensed.

When the time arrived for the argument at 4 o'clock Judge Bond indicated that Mr. Dewey might proceed with his argument. The latter asserted that he had received unjust treatment at the hands of the presiding justice, Judge Bond, and he particularly specified the judge's talk to him before the jury when the case was being tried, which, he said, tended to prejudice the jury to the detriment of his client.

Mr. Dewey referred to a case which he tried before Judge Bond three years ago and during which, he claimed, he had had similar trouble. Judge Bond interrupted Mr. Dewey, saying in effect that that case was not now open for discussion.

Attorney Dewey replied that he simply mentioned the former case in order to explain what he considered was wrong in this case. Then Mr. Dewey started to tell what he believed the duty of the court was.

"I know my duty as well as you do and I do not intend to take instruction from you," replied Judge Bond.

"With all due respect to your office," retorted ex-Judge Dewey, "it makes no difference whether you have been on the bench 30 or 60 years. A judge can always learn something from a member of the bar."

"If you have anything to say regarding these exceptions and your motion for a new trial, say it. If you have not we'll go home," said Judge Bond.

Mr. Dewey proceeded along similar lines as before and Judge Bond interrupted him. "You stand and talk when you know you are not telling the truth," he said.

With great emphasis Attorney Dewey retorted: "I do not allow any man on the bench or off the bench to say I don't tell the truth."

"If you have anything to say on this case," said Mr. Dewey, "say it."

Attorney Dewey replied: "I feel it my duty to my client and to myself in my profession as a member of the bar to defend myself when I receive such miserable treatment as I have from this honorable court."

Then he walked to the table, picked up his hat and papers and started to leave the room. Judge Bond waving the meanwhile. The papers were handed down to Clerk Dillingham and the decision was "motion overruled."

Anty Drudge Cures a Sick Headache.

Dr. Fudge—"Does Mrs. Junebride live here?"

Anty Drudge—"No—next door. I found her out in the back kitchen crying over her wash. The poor dear isn't used to such hard work, and she has a sick headache from it. I took the wash from her and quickly finished it with Fels-Naptha. She won't need you again on that score."

Dr. Fudge—"Well, really, Anty Drudge, washday is responsible for more ills than most people imagine. I am glad you have taken Mrs. Junebride under your wing. Fels-Naptha is the ounce of prevention that is worth my pound of cure."

Delicate summer curtains, draperies, tapestries, laces, women's fine raiment—things that would be ruined by washing in the old-fashioned way—can be cleaned at home with Fels-Naptha as well as an expert cleaner could do it.

Fels-Naptha contains no injurious chemicals; nothing that could harm the most delicate fabric. Sets colors instead of making them run as most soaps do.

With Fels-Naptha, use only cold or lukewarm water—never hot. That saves the fabric. Hot water would soften it and cause fraying.

Fels-Naptha dissolves the dirt; you don't have to rub it loose as with ordinary soap.

More than a million women do their washing with Fels-Naptha. They have found out that Fels-Naptha is the best and easiest way.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

6 O'CLOCK PLANS CHANGED

Mr. Lemkin Will Build Two Houses Instead of One

In the report of the permits to build as published in The Sun a few days ago it read that Morris Lemkin would build a four family dwelling on the south side of Bridge street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The report as it appeared in The Sun was absolutely correct and when read by certain parties in Bridge street there was a holler made that resulted in Mr. Lemkin changing his plans, not because he was obliged to, but because he preferred doing so rather than to have any trouble about it. It was a case with Mr. Lemkin of pursuing the line of least resistance.

There is a special restriction on the land in question. The restriction is contained in the deed and its import is that no house larger than a two-family house shall be built on the lots specified in Mr. Lemkin's permit and that's where the shoe pinched.

Mr. Lemkin knew all about the special restriction and he intended to cover it by dividing his house on the line between the two lots, one half of the house on one lot and the other half on the other lot. That, he was advised, would cover the law, but the kick assumed such formidable proportions that he decided to build two houses instead of one; two two-family houses at an estimated cost of $250 each.

The bride was given away by her brother, John McKinley. Miss Minnie West was bridesmaid and Mr. Leon Judd was best man. The house was prettily decorated with potted ferns and cut flowers, tastefully selected and artistically arranged. A reception and sumptuous wedding supper followed in the wake of the ceremony and were enjoyed by one of the happiest wedding parties of the season. The ushers were Hugh and William McKinley and D. B. Hart. Mr. and Mrs. Judd were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents in which were included many gifts from out-of-town friends. The happy couple left Lowell for Providence and from there they will go to Philadelphia. They will visit in various cities and places of interest and will be at home to their friends at 31 East street, Fitchburg, after July 15.

Each Waved in Victory at College Races This Morning

Yale Wins the Four-Oared Contest, But Harvard Takes Honors in Freshmen Race—Weather Conditions Perfect—A Great and Enthusiastic Crowd Cheered the Struggling Oarsmen

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 25.—A crisp north wind with a refreshing coolness, sunbeams overhead and a fleet of large proportions of all sorts of pleasure craft swinging at anchor in the running tide in the Thames river, was the setting for the morning on this, the annual race day of the Harvard and Yale crews. In the streets of New London the crowds of eager night enthusiasts bore the colors of their respective colleges, all expectantly hopeful, not only of witnessing three fine races, but in seeing Secretary Taft, who has been in New Haven since last Monday in connection with the commencement at Yale. He arrived here with his class, that of 1878, this morning to witness the big race. The class arrived in a special car attached to the special train leaving New Haven for New London. It is expected he will return to New Haven immediately after the races.

AT THE QUARTERS.
At the quarters of the crews the first men up poked their noses into a stiff northeast breeze, the difference in direction there from the lower stretches of the river being one of the peculiarities of the course. The sultry air of yesterday had been blown away and the thunderstorm of last night was looked upon as a good omen. Northerly breezes have mostly died with the sun. As the two morning races were to be over the same water, that is from the navy yard to the drawbridge, instead of as in past years from Red Top for the four, and from the Navy Yard to the bridge for the freshmen eight, the inquiry of the oarsmen before 9 o'clock was as to what might be expected there.

All the big fleet of yachts on the course hoisted signal flags when "colors" boomed out from the Sayanora, the flagship of the Philadelphia Corinthian Yacht club and in almost a twinkling the two mile course was fringed with every color of the rainbow.

THE ROOSEVELT PARTY.

The Mayflower, which brought Mrs. Roosevelt and her family over from Oyster Bay, anchored off the Fort Griswold house during the late evening yesterday, and this morning soon after "colors" had been signalled to the fleet of pleasure craft, the family was transferred to the Sylph, which in line with the other boats moved up through the drawbridge. This was the point at which the morning races were so scheduled to be finished, and the anchorage of the Sylph was most admirable.

SCENE ON SHORE.

As full of interest as the scene was, the excitement began early in town, where the people take the annual regatta as such as a matter of course. They were anxious to see Secretary Taft, and when at the railroad station it was definitely announced that the secretary was coming the crowd swarmed up to the ticket booths, inquiring about observation trains for the west bank, the tickets for which were disposed of two days ago. Everybody wanted to be near and see the big secretary and his special car on the train over from the college city.

The morning crowds were loyal to their universities and flag banners, and colored megaphones quickly made the moving groups clusters of bright colors. Everybody was happy, and the lively breeze disturbed nobody, for all felt that the conditions for the morning races were good.

FOUR OARED RACE.

The four oared race which Yale won was called first and the crews were ready at their quarters in ample time to drop down to the navy yard for a prompt start.

No delay followed. The river was pretty good to look at although the breeze had freshened to a six mile an hour. By 10 o'clock the rival crews were afloat in the whistles tooting in chorus in response to the cheering of the crowds at the observation trains near the navy yard. The crowd on the west bank trains cheered and the Yale adherents broke into the "Boat Song" to a land accompaniment. At 10:22 the crack of the revolver started the four, Harvard breaking the water first and shooting the shell a little into the lead.

Both crews hit up the stroke in 25 seconds. Harvard was the first off. Half way the half mile Harvard had a lead of a half a length. Nearing the flag of the first half mile Harvard maintained her lead.

Passing half mile Yale drew up a bit but could not overcome the Harvard lead.

Nearing the mile Yale spurred and almost touched even terms. Both crews continued to row a 32 stroke. The oarsmanship of both crews was excellent with the exception of Yale who splashed. Harvard had a lead of nearly a length at the mile. Time at mile 5:13.

After passing the mile mark both crews seemed on fairly even terms. Harvard leading by less than a length. When the mile and half mark was reached Harvard had increased her lead slightly.

At the mile and a half mark Harvard led by a length and a half. Time at mile and half 7:51.

In the stretch Yale spurred and reached the flag slightly.

Harvard pulled a steady stroke while Yale seemed to be exhausted. Nearing the finish Yale led by half a length. Yale's lead was steadily increasing near the finish, and a change had to be made. Yale won by three lengths. Both crews appeared to be in good condition at the finish. Time, 10:31-1:5.

THE FRESHMEN RACE.

NEW LONDON, June 25.—The race officials returned to the drawbridge and both freshmen crews entered their shells preparatory to their two mile contest. The river conditions remained unchanged. The crews quickly took position. Yale had west side, Harvard the east. Without much delay the word was given.

At start Harvard again leading. Both crews started at once and for the first few strokes splashed wildly. They then settled down to a long, even swing of about 30 to the minute. On nearing the half mile Harvard led by half a length.

Half mile was made in fast time, Harvard reaching it in 1:52; Yale 1:54. After passing the half mile mark both crews struck a little rough water, but the oar work was so good that there was very little splashing.

The pace slackened between the half mile and mile mark and Yale pulled up nearly even.

Just before reaching the mile, Yale spurred and obtained a slight advantage. The race, however, at this point was a pretty one. At the mile Harvard had a lead by half a length, and passed between the flags in 4:33 seconds; Yale was two seconds later.

After passing the mile mark the crews

Steamship Larache a Death Trap—Victims Were All From Argentine Republic

CORUNNA, Spain, June 25.—Latest reports show that 85 persons are missing as a result of the sinking of the steamship Larache.

The rescued number 65. The captain sank with his ship. Most of the passengers on the Larache were residents of the Argentine Republic. The Larache proved a veritable death trap when she struck. She sank in a few minutes, leaving the passengers and crew struggling in the water. The small boats were either smashed or capsized. A fleet of fishing boats rushed to the rescue but the heavy fog prevailing seriously interfered with their work.

The Larache succeeded in rescuing 75 persons. In addition to the captain the ship's doctor and the first officer were drowned. The disaster occurred at 5 o'clock in the morning and most of those who are saved are without clothing. It has been ascertained that the number of passengers and crew of the Larache totaled 77. Sixty-five persons are known to have been saved but the fate of the other eighty-two is not known and it is feared that most of them perished.

TRIDUUM OPENED BOTH At St. Peter's Church Husband and Wife in Malley, of Boston. Benediction of the blessed sacrament closed the services.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Locked in each other's arms, in plain view of hundreds on shore and upon the awning decks of anchored yachts, Captain Otto Aubert and his wife were drowned last night off the foot of East Twenty-ninth street, in the slip known as "The Drowners."

Five thousand spectators watched the electric lights of the police launch and thirty of the yachts as they dragged for the bodies. They were found finally not more than fifty feet from the barge Edgewood, which Captain Aubert commanded. Fully fifty persons have been drowned off the "Dumps" as that part of the river front is called, in the "drowners" slip in the last twenty years. No tragedy has caused the sorrow of this sad happening. The spectators murmured in sympathy when the bodies, still firmly held in a last embrace, were brought to the surface.

WAS ONCE HUSBAND OF LITTLE EGYPT.

ROCHESTER, June 25.—Frederick H. Hamlin, of East Bloomfield, who was disclosed as the husband of "Little Egypt," through her tragic death alone in her room in New York, today married Miss Carrie Thurston, of Brantford. He had known her some eight years ago, when he returned from the Egyptian desert, whether he had, God, do not send over his scribbles, possibly, with the address. He was broken in health when he met with the young woman he married today, and she sympathized with him over his unhappy marriage.

Hamlin now has a position in the bank of his father, J. S. Hamlin, at East Bloomfield.

GEORGE C. DEMPSEY OF LOWELL

Took a Prominent Part in the Proceedings

NAGARA FALLS, N. Y., June 25.—The annual convention of the National Liquor Dealers' association was continued here yesterday.

Dr. A. J. Froberg, attorney for the Ohio Wine and Spirit association, defended the ordinary conduct of the saloon, saying:

"I think that it is certainly unnecessary and improper features have been allowed to grow up in connection with the business of selling liquor. It is due entirely to the American public. The American drinking place, its manners and customs are determined largely by the people who frequent it. I do not mean by this to condemn the whole American public, but simply to point out that the few saloons which are the subject of proper criticism are those saloons which cater to a class which demands that kind of thing in some form or other. The unfortunate part about it is that your anti-saloon league finds the bad saloon ready to his hand from which to draw the illogical conclusion that all places where liquor is sold are bad. It therefore heaves the saloon into the public eye, and the anti-saloon league has succeeded in doing by the aid of the yellow magazines of the country."

The speaker advocated district and other local organization and press campaigns.

J. M. Gilmore, president of the National Temperance league, said that while prohibition had cost Maine $60,000,000 in revenue the law had not reduced per capita consumption. He pointed to the recent defeat of Gov. Smith of Georgia as a sign of the awakening of the true popular sentiment. He advocated the self-renewing license as a method of taking the saloon out of politics.

William E. Hinch, president of the Illinois State association, and its successful work in the recent campaign in that state. He advocated a closer harmony between brewers, distillers and allied trades for the extension of the work. The local option law of Illinois he declared unjust.

The most notable feature of yesterday's session was that Commissioner of Internal Revenue John G. Capers of Washington addressed the body at length. This is the first time that the revenue department has been represented at a liquor dealers' convention, and the members felt that the two are coming to a better understanding. One important statement by him was:

"The distillers, rectifiers and wholesale men could do a great deal to raise the tone, spirit, character, methods and conduct of retailers, and in so doing lift their business, even in the place where it finally reaches its last sale, into a cleaner and more popular method of handling."

"When the liquor business is made cleaner and better in all its phases—for the conduct of the smallest man reflects on you—you will have done much to stop many of the claims of those who now advocate that you be legislated out of business, regardless of your locality, the size of your business, or the integrity with which you conduct it."

Five hundred members of the association are present and the main purpose of the meeting is to adopt measures to stay the progress of the anti-saloon league.

Among the features of the afternoon session of the annual convention of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association now being held here, was the address of George C. Dempsey of Boston and Lowell, on "The License Laws of New England."

Mr. Dempsey, who is chairman of the executive committee of the national association and a member of the executive committee of the Massachusetts association, reviewed the experience of New England with prohibition, and applied the results of such experience to the wave of prohibition which has been sweeping some of the Southern and Western states at the present time.

He argued that as the policy had failed in "conservative New England," it would also fail in other parts of the country, and expressed the belief that the "tidal wave" had reached its height.

SOMETHING DOING

U. S. Attaches Withdraw From Caracas

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao, June 25.—The American kumboat Marietta came into port early this morning from Porto Cabello. She has on board Jacob Sleeper, secretary of the American legation in Venezuela and Lieut. Frances Ruggles, the military attaché who withdrew from the legation at Caracas last Saturday with Mr. Ruggles.

Mr. Sleeper has been acting as chargé d'affaires at Caracas since the departure of W. W. Russell, the minister, early in May. He and Lieut. Ruggles withdrew from the legation at Caracas on Saturday and went to Porto Cabello where they were met by the Marietta. The interests of the United States were in charge of the Brazilian legation at Caracas.

FROM WASHINGTON.
WASHINGTON, June 25.—Senator Velasco, the Venezuelan chargé d'affaires in Washington, was a caller at the state department yesterday. He talked with Acting Secretary Allen, but the latter did not indicate what the nature of the conference was. Mr. Velasco has been the foremost lion of the withdrawal of Jacob Sleeper, the American secretary and chargé at Caracas. Mr. Sleeper is coming home by direct train of the state department and it is admitted in official circles that the act is a practical cessation of diplomatic relations with Venezuela.

It developed that the program of the state department is not one of the moment, but the result of careful deliberation on the part of Secretary Root and Assistant Secretary Bacon. There is no doubt the withdrawal of the American legation from Venezuela was a complete and willing surprise to President Castro. The next step in this international complication will be a problem that no one connected with the administration here appears able to answer.

Wise Merchants

The merchants of Lowell are not fools. Of course they were not as wise once as they are now, but their wisdom came through experience.

While they always bought their merchandise by measure and weight, they used to buy advertising space in the local papers by sympathy and guess work. They don't buy it that way now. They pay space on the basis of circulation, estimating the price per inch per thousand papers circulated.

On this basis, they know what they get and they know that this is by far the cheapest medium in the city.

TO RIDE NIAGARA

Russian Here to Risk

His Life

NEW YORK, June 25.—A Russian inventor of a remarkable motor boat arrived yesterday on the White Star liner Oceanic. It is his intention to take his rockle-shell craft through the Whirlpool Rapids, below Niagara Falls. He is Vasily Rebkoff.

He was joined at the pier by Baron von Kerwin, who is interested in the new boat. The Baron is a well-known aeronaut, connected with the German army. He built eighty balloons and airships and then turned his attention to motor-boating.

Rebkoff's boat will arrive on La Lorraine next week. It is twelve feet long and three feet wide. While traveling at its highest speed, 32 knots an hour it skims along the top of the water, jumping from wave to wave. During a trial for the benefit of the German Emperor the water was rough, and Rebkoff boasted that no water could balk him. He was dared to try the Niagara rapids.

GOV. CROTHERS

ON CAR BY WHICH MAN WAS KILLED.

BALTIMORE, June 25.—Governor Crothers was aboard a Washington, Baltimore and Annapolis car yesterday afternoon which struck and killed an unidentified man two miles the west of the city, along the route of the car. The governor was his nephew, Emerson Crothers.

According to witnesses, the victim was in plain sight of the motorman and passengers in the forward part of the car for fully an eighth of a mile. Instead of stopping, however, witnesses say, the motorman, evidently thinking the man would step aside upon hearing the whistle, kept his car going at a rapid rate.

LAKEVIEW THEATRE

Despite the rain of last night a good sized audience attended the presentation of the "Gilded Girl" and came away well pleased. Next week's play at Lakeview theatre, "The Girl of Eagle Ranch," is a western comedy drama, written along new lines by Walter Woods, the well known producer and dramatist. It was originally written by Mr. Woods as a starring vehicle for Bessie Grayson, the leading lady of the Adam Good company, for a tour last season, but a change of plans placed the play in the hands of a New York firm of producing managers and under their direction it had a prospect to the east and back. The play abounds in good strong dramatic situations, exciting climaxes, and culminates with a brilliant happy comedy, yet it has none of the usual features so common to the general run of western dramas. The story is of unusual interest and so deftly laid the writer intermingled pathos and comedy, the fun and the smile follow its story in quick succession. There will be a matinee every day except Monday.

SECRETARY TAFT

Says "Democrat" is A Historic Description

ANOTHER SPEECH AT YALE

Sherman's Illness Delays Political Work

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 25.—News of the death of former President Grover Cleveland yesterday threw in a shadow of genuine sorrow upon the commencement festivities at Yale.

Secretary Wm. H. Taft was informed of the demise of Mr. Cleveland as the procession of the officials of the university, the faculty and the graduates, which was forming to march to Woolsey hall in which the commencement exercises were held. He expressed his deep regret at Mr. Cleveland's death and said:

"President Cleveland was one of the very great men of the country. His death is a distinct loss to the American people."

Later in the day, at the commencement dinner, the secretary paid a beautiful and eloquent tribute to the memory of the dead president.

The news of the death of Mr. Cleveland spread rapidly and, among officials and faculty of Yale, with many of whom Mr. Cleveland had sustained cordial personal relations, expressions of sorrow were frequent and sincere.

At the conclusion of the commencement exercises, Secretary Taft announced that on account of the continued illness of Rep. James S. Sherman, his running mate on the republican national ticket, he had decided to postpone for one week, the meeting of the sub-committee of the national committee which was appointed to meet him in conference to select a national chairman. The adjourned meeting was to have been held in Washington on Wednesday, July 1. By Secretary Taft's decision it will not be held until Wednesday, July 8, in Washington. The secretary late yesterday sent a telegram to his private secretary in Washington, Frederick W. Carpenter, directing him to send telegrams to each member of the sub-committee notifying him of the change in the date of the conference.

"Mr. Sherman," Secretary Taft said, "is anxious to be present at the conference and it seems likely now that he will be physically able to be in Washington next Wednesday. It is desirable, therefore, that the conference be postponed."

Former governor of Ohio, Myron T. Herrick, yesterday telegraphed Secretary Taft that Mr. Sherman's condition had improved materially, but that he was a very sick man.

TAFT IS SARCASTIC.

At the alumni dinner, after the formal commencement exercises, Secretary Taft delivered the second of his scheduled addresses for the week. He made only a casual reference to politics in his speech, that being when he begged to advise the youngest alumnus of Yale that the term "democrat" is a "mere historical description."

To what was regarded as a significant extent he outlined his own position when he said he had come to Yale to be filled with Yale spirit which was "the spirit of progressiveness without the spirit of destructiveness."

Secretary Taft sat between President Hadley and Senator Joaquim Nabuco, the Brazilian ambassador, who was here yesterday to receive a Yale degree.

He was not permitted to take his seat, however, until he had been given a ringing shout of welcome and the "Chautauqua salute" by the great assemblage of alumni. J. Pierpont Morgan was seated next to the Brazilian ambassador. He received the degree of doctor of laws, but was obliged to leave the dining hall before the speech-making began in order to return early to New York. He had planned to depart today for Europe.

In the course of a felicitous introduction of Secretary Taft, President Hadley said:

"The fourth speaker, in a certain sense, occupies the place of prominence. There was a man who had the luck of being put down fourth on the list of after dinner speakers. He said it always seemed to be a reflection, because he could not help remembering the historic incident that Peter asked Ananias to stand forth. (Laughter.) So we have to take special pains as the fourth man is liable to be struck by some kind of lightning."

"Bill Taft does not belong to the club," yelled one of the '73 men.

SECRETARY TAFT'S ADDRESS.

Secretary Taft said:

"Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen, Men of Yale—I join in an expression of sorrow, deep sorrow, at the death of Grover Cleveland. (Applause.) He was a great man and a great president. (Applause.) He had the highest civic ideals, he had a rugged honesty, he had a high courage that makes him now happy in his death, as he leaves this life revered, respected and loved by all his countrymen. (Applause.) and there is no more fitting place to pronounce an eulogium on him than in a meeting of Yale men, actuated and inspired with Yale spirit. Last year I was compelled to take the place of Senator Knox and this year of Senator Spooner. Now it has been my experience with members of that distinguished body that they were sometimes willing to speak when the country did not desire to hear them, and why, now that we are all aching to hear from them, that they each desert their posts, I don't understand."

President Hadley's speech was continued chiefly to a reference to the manner in which the university had weathered the financial strain. The other speakers were Rev. Dr. Hugh Mack, Samuel J. Elder of Boston, Yale '73, and ex-President Timothy Dwight.

After the exercises in Woolsey hall, Mr. Taft went to the headquarters of the class of '83—that of his brother Horace—and held an informal reception for half an hour.

Last night, Secretary and Mrs. Taft were the guests of honor at a dinner party given by their host, Mr. W. W. Farnham.

Yesterday the secretary telegraphed Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war de-

FINE PROGRAM

By Pupils of Conservatory of Music

The 32d annual recital of the Lowell Conservatory of Music, held last night at Odd Fellows hall in Middlesex street, was a very charming event and revealed the fact that in our midst there lives a boy who speaks his soul from the violin. Signor Antonio Andreoli, a pale-faced unobtrusive and rather bashful lad, son of Mr. Andreoli, who conducts the very modest shoeshine emporium in Prescott street, is master of the violin and his teachers in New York and at the Conservatory of Music in Boston speak of him as a "marvel." Last night with one solo he charmed the audience.

The recital program, last night, was a perfect one and was well carried out by the pupils who answered smilingly to hearty and sincere encores. All of the performers did admirably and the violin solo Andreoli's "Concerto," by Signor Andreoli was a fitting climax to a well prepared and splendidly executed program.

At the close of the recital diplomas were presented to the graduating class by Principal Geo. F. Willey, who has been a successful teacher of music in this city for over 60 years.

COPPER SHARES

FIRM AT OPENING OF MARKET

YESTERDAY.

BOSTON, June 25.—The local copper share market had a firm tone when it opened yesterday. Early in the day the volume of business was extremely small. There seems to be a general disposition to await the result of the

creasing the trading.

THE GREAT FLEET

Is Off for Trip Around the World

PROGRAM OF THE TOUR

Another Reception Will Be Held on Its Return

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The battleships Maine and Alabama, composing the special service squadron, which is preceding the Atlantic fleet around the world, sailed from Honolulu yesterday forenoon for Manila. They will touch at Guam on July 7, and are scheduled to arrive at Manila, July 21. The squadron is under command of Capt. Harbor of the Maine. The two battleships will to some extent act as a pathfinder squadron for the Atlantic fleet, which sails from San Francisco on July 7. This fleet is beginning to assemble at San Francisco preparatory to its long cruise. The battleships Illinois and Wisconsin sailed from the Puget sound navy yard Monday for San Francisco. Docking at Hunter's Point has been completed and all the ships at Bremerton will be finished in a few days. The battleship Kansas, at Hunter's Point, was docked several days ago and had her hull scraped and painted in about 24 hours. This is an unusual record. The Kansas went into the dock at high tide and the whole ship's company began to work on the hull. Stages were placed around the vessel and as the water in the dock was drawn off her hull was thoroughly scraped. By the time all the water was out of the drydock her hull had been finished and the work of painting was begun immediately. By high tide the next day the coat of paint was dry enough for the Kansas to leave the dock.

A dispatch from Amoy, China, says that Admiral Saki, commanding the Pei-yang squadron of the Chinese navy, who has been there preparing for the welcome of the American battleship fleet, sailed yesterday. He has left the completion of arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors to Cecil A. V. Bowra, commissioner of customs, and Tsootai Lin. The foreign residents of Amoy have appointed a committee to co-operate in the entertainment. The first day will be given over to official visits, and on the second day the foreigners will entertain the Americans. On the third day there will be sports for the enlisted men. Nothing has been decided upon yet for the fourth day, but on the fifth day there will be a reception by the Amoy commissioners, and on the sixth day the officers of the fleet will receive on board.

Two points are being considered by the navy department at which to hold the review of the fleet when it again returns to the United States. Hampton Roads, because of its magnificent harbor, is strongly favored by some of the officers of the navy whose judgment will have weight in the decision. Others have urged the department to end the long cruise at New York. One of the conditions which has led the navy department to consider seriously sending the fleet of Hampton Roads is that so far, there has been but slight interest shown by New York in having the review held at that port.

The time of the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet is so far distant that no decision has been reached," said Secretary Metcalf, when asked where the review would be held.

Both New York and Hampton Roads have been considered. New York has not yet given evidence of very much interest in the matter.

Instructions have been sent from the navy department to the commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, giving an outline of the practice to be held with the guns of the ships of that command. Some of the preliminary work will be held in Subig bay upon the arrival of the fleet in Philippine waters on its journey around the world. It is expected that the practice itself will occur during the early part of November in Manila bay, and orders have been sent to the navy yard at Manila to prepare the floating targets and chart the ranges. There is sufficient space in Manila bay to conduct this target practice, which is usually held for record purposes off Guantanamo, Cuba. It is gratifying to the naval authorities to be able to conduct target practice with the big guns, notwithstanding the circumnavigating cruise, which is observed so far to have as its one disadvantage its deprivation of the annual practice with small arms. This has always been conducted at the naval station at Guantanamo, but there are no facilities either on the Pacific coast or in the Philippines for having small arms practice for the bands of 800 men. The facilities at Manila bay are meagre, and it is out of the question to delay the ships sufficiently long to give all the men a chance at this rifle fire. This year's target practice in Manila bay will be a departure from the preceding work in that the ships will go on the ranges without previous knowledge of the direction or speed at which they will pass the targets. This information will be in the form of sealed orders, which will be opened as the ships start for the practice. It is another step toward promoting efficiency in naval gunnery under conditions which are as exacting as those of actual warfare. Under such conditions it is not to be expected that as good percentages will be made as have been achieved at Guantanamo and Magdalena bay, but the practice will be more valuable.

The apparatus consists of a wire cable which unwinds as a person descends.

The cable is attached around the body with a chain. Engel weighs 220 pounds and as he let himself out of the window the chain gave way and he fell 80 feet, striking on his right side. He was killed instantly.

The board of trade was to have held a meeting at 5 o'clock to take action on forming a company.

ROOSEVELT FAMILY

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 26.—

The presidential yacht Mayflower, with Mrs. Roosevelt and family on board, which left Oyster Bay yesterday, steamed into the lower harbor and anchored off the Fort Griswold house shortly after ten o'clock last night. There was no communication with the shore. It is understood that in the morning, Mrs. Roosevelt and the children will be transferred to the Sylph, which then will go through the draw-bridge and anchor abreast of the fish-lake of the minor races.

P. M. MANSFIELD

APPOINTED ON COMMISSION BY POSTMASTER GENERAL.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Postmaster Mansfield of Boston has been named by Postmaster General Meyer as one of a committee of postal experts to investigate the feasibility of government purchase, installation of equipment and maintenance of pneumatic tube service and the approximate cost.

COMMITTEE ON ACCOUNTS.

A meeting of the committee on accounts was scheduled for last night, but owing to the absence of two of its members the meeting was not held.

THE LATE EX-PRESIDENT

THE DEATH OF EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND HAS COME AS A SHOCK TO HIS ADMIRERS THROUGHOUT THE COUNTRY AND THEY ARE LEGION. EVEN HIS POLITICAL OPPONENTS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO HIS STATESMANSHIP AND WORTH. HIS DEATH HAS ELICITED A WAVE OF SYMPATHY SUCH AS IS RARELY BROUGHT OUT BY THE DEATH OF ANY PUBLIC MAN. IT HAS ALSO BROUGHT OUT HIGH ENCOMIUMS AS TO HIS CHARACTER AND ABILITY, THE SUCCESS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION DURING HIS TWO TERMS AS PRESIDENT AND WHAT HE ACCOMPLISHED FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

SOME OF THE LEADING MEN OF TODAY PRONOUNCE HIM ONE OF THE FOREMOST AMERICAN CITIZENS AND THE GREATEST STATESMAN OF HIS TIME.

THERE IS NO DOUBT AS TO HIS ABILITY AS A STATESMAN. IT WAS HIS ADVOCACY OF TARIFF REFORM OF THE RIGHT KIND THAT MADE HIM PRESIDENT. HE DID NOT FAVOR TARIFF REFORM AS A MEANS OF SECURING PUBLIC OFFICE; HE FAVORED IT BECAUSE HE BELIEVED IT TO BE RIGHT.

AS PRESIDENT HE DISPLAYED QUALITIES OF STATESMANSHIP NOT SURPASSED BY ANY PRESIDENT SINCE LINCOLN. HIS VENEZUELAN MESSAGE VINDICATING THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND REPELLING AN ATTEMPTED ENCROACHMENT ON VENEZUELA BY ENGLAND, WAS ONE OF THE GREATEST DEEDS OF HIS ADMINISTRATION. THIS MESSAGE WILL STAND AS A HISTORIC DOCUMENT PERTAINING TO THE MUNROE DOCTRINE AND ITS APPLICATION.

WHEN CLEVELAND ENTERED OFFICE IN 1893 A PANIC WAS UPON THE COUNTRY. HE CALLED UPON CONGRESS TO REPEAL THE SHERMAN SILVER ACT IN ORDER TO RELIEVE THE SITUATION. THIS BROUGHT ABOUT THE DESIRED RESULT AND DEMONSTRATED CLEVELAND'S SOUND JUDGMENT UPON MATTERS OF FINANCE.

THE VENEZUELAN TROUBLE

THE UNITED STATES HAS SEVERED DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS WITH VENEZUELA ALTHOUGH THERE APPEARS TO BE NO CAUSE THAT WOULD JUSTIFY THIS COURSE. IT IS TRUE THAT PRESIDENT CASTRO HAS BEEN VERY SAUCY IN ONE WAY OR ANOTHER, BUT THAT WOULD NOT JUSTIFY THE UNITED STATES IN MAKING WAR UPON HIS LITTLE COUNTRY.

IF IT IS A MATTER OF WHIPPING PRESIDENT CASTRO WE HAD BETTER SEND DOWN A PRIZE FIGHTER OF THE STAMP OF MARTIN FLAHERTY OF THIS CITY RATHER THAN A WELL TRAINED ARMY BACKED UP BY A FLEET THAT IS BLUE-MOLDING FOR WANT OF A FIGHT.

THERE IS A VERY GRAVE SUSPICION THAT THE TROUBLE WITH VENEZUELA AT THIS TIME IS PRECIPITATED BY A REPUBLICAN RUSE TO GET THE COUNTRY EXCITED SO THAT THE REPUBLICAN POLITICIANS CAN URGE THE DANGER OF CHANGING HORSES IN CROSSING A RIVER ON THE EVE OF ELECTION.

IT APPEARS THAT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT IS DETERMINED TO DO SOMETHING ELSE IN THE LINE OF A COUP AMONG THE CENTRAL AMERICAN OR SOUTH AMERICAN REPUBLICS. IT IS UNDERSTOOD THAT HE WOULD LIKE TO ANNEX THE REPUBLIC OF PANAMA, AND THE FACT THAT A REBELLION IS BREWING IN VENEZUELA CASTS SOME SUSPICION UPON THE UNITED STATES AS BEING INSTRUMENTAL IN FOMENTING THE TROUBLE. PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, WE SURMISE, WILL BE A DISAPPOINTED MAN IF HE HAS TO GO OUT OF OFFICE WITHOUT A LITTLE MORE PRACTICE WITH THE BIG STICK. THE COUNTRY IS BEGINNING TO REALIZE THAT HE IS A VERY DANGEROUS MAN TO BE ENTRUSTED WITH SUCH GREAT POWER. THE TOUR OF THE NAVY AROUND THE WORLD IS SOMETHING IN THE LINE OF WHAT IS COMMONLY TERMED "GOING OUT WITH A CHIP ON THE SHOULDER IN SEARCH OF A FIGHT."

SEEN AND HEARD

He was a stranger in the city, seeking amusement between trains. And so he wandered to the public library and after a few moments spent in the museum he entered the fiction room.

"I wonder what I'll read," he thought. A messenger boy entered and walked to the desk of Miss Minnie Neale, who has charge of the fiction room.

"Say," said the girl, "I want that book called 'The Wheel Goes Round.'"

"What?" asked Miss Neale. "Don't you mean 'The Turn of the Balance' by Brent Whitlock?" she asked.

"That's it," the messenger boy said. "This is the book," she said. But he was to hear more. Soon another person about an hour, acquired what had become of that new book, "The Lady Decorator." He was given "The Lady Decorator" and went away satisfied.

"Then came a request for 'Double Quick' and the person received 'Double Trouble,' by Herbert Quick.

"Say," said a girl as she approached the desk, "I've been looking for that 'Box of Oranges' all afternoon, but I can't find it anywhere."

"Sure it isn't 'A Box of Orange Ribbons'?" Miss Neale asked.

"Of course it is," said the girl. "How foolish of me."

Some one called for "The Author's Hangman" and got "The Literary Guillotine," while still another left the library with "The Beloved Vagabond" instead of "That Popular Tramp."

The stranger remained near Miss Neale's desk nearly an hour. When he went away he decided he had found the amusement he had sought.—Kansas City Star.

The workmen lay down. With an hour or two to spare, and his pastor with the Bible had been called to see him there. The minister was ready.

With the book to read a line that would light the unknown journey that the human to divine. He had opened to the passage. When the workman, so weak he could hardly raise a finger and could only faintly speak. Gazed feebly at the Bible.

Which the pastor held, and shook his head in disapproval. Of the use of such a book. The pastor was astonished. For the man was not the kind who scoffs at things eternal.

The man made signs and whispered. He raised his thin, white hand in protest, and he struggled to have him understand. At last the pastor triumphed. And without the book he prayed. For the workman had noticed that it wasn't union-made.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Mrs. O. M. McNair of Tahlequah, Okla., has been appointed dispensary agent for the capital of the Cherokee nation. She is the first woman to hold such an office.

The Agnes B. Robinson Mesner prize in anatomy, given in competitive examination to a student of the second year at the Philadelphia Woman's Medical college, has just been awarded to Olivia Salamanca of Cavite, Philippine Islands. Another member of the same class is Miss Ethel Das, from Patezapore, a small town in the foothills of the Himalayas, near Lahore. Both these young women will practice medicine in their native countries.

The thirteen honor students in the class of seven-five graduated this year from the College of Liberal Arts of Boston university are all women. Because they have attained the highest rank during the four years of their college course all thirteen will become members of the Phi Beta Kappa. This society has a similar record in the University of Missouri, where all five of the members added to its roll last year were girls.

Miss Stella Schaffer delivered the valedictory address for the graduating class of the Eclectic Medical college of the city of New York at the recent commencement exercises. It is the first time in more than ten years that such an honor has fallen to a woman. Miss Schaffer was also the winner of the electro-therapeutic prize.

Mrs. Helen L. Grenfell has been appointed by Governor Buchtel of Colorado a delegate to the meeting of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance.

once in Amsterdam. Mrs. Harriet Sheik was appointed by the governor of Wyoming a delegate to the same convention. Mrs. Grenfell served three terms as state superintendent of public instruction in Colorado.

The members of the Woman's Suffrage association are displeased because the "antle" are circulating the report that women suffrage tends to increase insanity. The statement was founded on the increase in Finland between the years 1900 and 1905. After many hot words a suffragist remembered that Finland was not granted in Finland until the latter year. This stopped the dispute but not the industrious research of the suffragists, for now they announce that after the many years of woman suffrage in Wyoming there are only three lunatics in the entire state, and all three are men.

Mrs. Margaret K. Horn of Indiana has obtained a pension of $24 a month from congress in recognition of her services during the war with the Sioux Indians. A pension bill was under consideration awarding her $16 a month as the widow of a war veteran. In the debate it was brought out that Mrs. Horn had personally rendered the government good service, for while her husband was at the front during the civil war she herself in 1862 fought against the Sioux Indians, being one of the besieged at Fort Ridgely, Minn. Because of this service her pension was raised to $24.

There are seven women physicians in New Orleans, and all of them are struggling to be admitted to membership in the Orleans Parish Medical society. So long as they are debarred from membership in this society they will not be received in the Louisiana State Medical society or in the American Medical association. The doctors who oppose the admission of these women into the parish society declare that in their belief the great professions are not suitable spheres for women.

PROF. MOLLOY Addressed Boston College Graduates

Commencement week at Boston college was brought to a close last evening in Boston college hall, James St., where an audience of 1500 gathered to attend the graduation exercises, which besides the conferring of degrees upon the graduates, included the announcement of the prizes.

Seated on the platform with the graduates were a large number of alumni. A short time after the beginning of the exercises Archbishop O'Connell entered the hall and the entire audience stood while he was escorted to the platform.

Selections were rendered during the evening by the Boston college orchestra, under the direction of Michael Earls, S. J.

The diplomas were presented by the archbishop. The address to the graduates was delivered by Hugh J. Molloy '83, vice president of the state normal school at Lowell.

Discourses on the "Centenary of the Diocese of Boston" were delivered by four seniors. John J. McMahon of Brockton talked on "The Material Growth," Edward J. Looby of South Boston spoke on "The Spiritual Growth," Henry T. Powers of Braintreeville on "The Civic Growth" and John T. O'Hare of Cambridge on "The Educational Growth."

In his address Mr. Molloy said in part:

"It is by very singular chance and a happy circumstance that I find myself tonight, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of my own graduation from Boston college, called upon to address the graduates of the class of 1908.

"Boston is a small college, but those who have dwelt within its walls, love it, we love it for the lessons we have learned here; lessons from the good old text books of college curriculum, useful in life's daily pursuits and avocations; lessons, too, from the book of life, read in the lives of men whom it has been a blessed privilege to have come into close relations with.

MR. MCGRAFT

Looks Over the Fire House Site

Had Been Lost or Fallen Out of Site

Mr. McGrath jumped across the bridge into West Centralville this forenoon and examined the spot where the foundation is being laid for the new fire house in West Sixth street. He had in his possession something that resembled a pocket battery and putting his finger to a spring a dozen or more steel wires shot out and buzzed as if a great current was in motion.

Men who were working near where the tips of the wires landed dropped their picks and shovels and declared they had received an electric shock. There was one fellow, however, who did not move. It took Mr. McGrath about three minutes to make the test and when he had finished he touched another steel wire into the battery like box.

A peculiar smile hovered about the lips of McGrath as one of the workmen approached him with the query: "Might I ask what the d— you're doing with that thing. If that's one of those infernal machines I appoint myself a committee of one to ask you to 'vamoose.'"

"I understand," said McGrath, paying no attention to what had been said, "that your boss has said he can't strike bottom on this engine house lot. Now that's a pretty good story and you tell your boss that I admire his resourcefulness. My name is McGrath, the emphasis beginning with G."

"What are you driving at?" queried the fellow who feared the infernal machine.

"You noticed there was one man who did not move when I sprung the valahoo tester," said McGrath.

"Yes, I did notice that," said the workman. "The fellow's name is I. A. M. Wise and he hasn't spoke since. I think the little devil you have in your pocket put the poor fellow out of commission."

Mr. McGrath left the first speaker and went over to Mr. Wise with whom he held a whispered conversation. Upon separating McGrath turning to Wise, said: "It's the best thing I've heard of for a long time and if he gets away with it he's a corker."

DIDN'T ASCEND Glidden Had Respect for Thunder Storms

NORTH ADAMS, June 25.—The balloon Greylock, piloted by Dr. R. M. Randall, its owner, defeated the North Adams No. 1 yesterday in a race into Vermont. N. H. Arnold piloted the North Adams No. 1, and had as his passengers W. S. Coughlin and H. D. Hopkins of Keene, N. H. William Van Sleet of Pittsfield, who is to be the pilot of the Aero club of his city, made his first ascension in the Greylock. The North Adams No. 1 got away at 8:35 a. m., but the Greylock did not rise till 10 o'clock. Both balloons took the same direction.

The North Adams No. 1 landed at Guilford, Vt., about 12 miles from the home of the Keene passengers in the car. As its pilot and passengers were packing up the Greylock passed over them and landed some two miles nearer Keene, about 11:30. This was miles gained on the way to Vermont, a start on a trail that landed them here five hours earlier than the pilot of the North Adams No. 1, who started an hour and twenty-five minutes ahead of them. Randall and Van Sleet were on the way home when the storm swept over this region, and as they had not telephoned here much anxiety was felt for their safety. All they arrived. It was Mr. Randall's third trip.

Van Sleet will accompany Randall in the light duty at Springfield. He will make another trip from here Friday. It is expected that Lou Stevens, accompanied by A. H. Morgan and J. H. Wade of Cleveland, will make a flight from here Saturday in the Star Pilot and that Alvin C. Fricke, a skilled French pilot, will make a start at the same time in the North Adams No. 1.

On account of the succession of thunder showers yesterday afternoon and evening the ascension of Charles J. Glidden, who had intended to start at midnight in his abandoned dirigible, was postponed for a better weather. He may make an ascent tonight, hoping to find favorable currents of air which will carry him to Portland, Me.

BOARD OF ALDERMAN

Voted $15,260 for Sewers Last Night

The board of aldermen at a special meeting held last evening tabled the loan order for $3500 for beautifying Monument square. Some of the board members think that $3500 is a little steep for the job that is contemplated and when asked last night why he voted to table the order an alderman said, "It doesn't make any difference, the mayor will veto it anyway."

Perhaps that alderman knew what he was talking about and perhaps he didn't. The board voted $15,260 for sewers to cover the following sewer resolutions which were adopted:

To lay a sewer in Morton street, from Lawrence street northerly about 35 feet at a cost of $200.

To lay a sewer in Burton street from Lawrence street northerly about 55 feet, at a cost of $300.

To lay a sewer on petition of George B. Allan and others that a sewer be laid in Kingston street, at a cost of $350.

To lay sewers in Epping street from Lawrence street northerly and easterly about 51 feet and from Burton street westerly about 37 feet, at a cost of $570.

The Lowell Automobile Club, J. O. Deane president, petitioned for the exclusive use of certain streets for speed contests on Labor day, said streets being principally the Fairview boulevard and Varnum avenue. The club also asked for permission to erect grand stands, handstands and other temporary structures necessary in the event.

The board voted to grant a hearing at the next meeting. Albert Kensington petitioned for a sewer in Kensington street and the committee on sewers will consider it.

The park commission's communication recommending the appropriation of $250 for Monument square, adopted by the common council was read. Alderman Gray said he was not opposed to the order, but thought he would like more time to look into the matter. Alderman Brennan seconded, stating that he had not examined the

READ THIS "It is astonishing," remarked a well known authority on Diseases of the skin, "how such a large number of people, especially ladies, are by attractive written advertisements, induced to purchase some one of the many so called Beauty Creams now on the market, not knowing of course that they mostly contain oils or greasy substances that clog the pores of the skin and are for that reason the very worst thing that they could possibly use. My treatment of Pimples, Blackheads, Itches and all eruptions of the skin, are as follows and has invariably proved very successful. Wash the face carefully every night before retiring with warm water and a little warm salt up in a small cloth bag, then after drying well, use the following inexpensive and perfectly harmless prescription which can be filled at any Drug Store: Clearola is on either 1 oz. Alcohol 7 ozs. Use this mixture on the face as often as possible during the day, but use night and morning any face, allowing it to remain on the face at least ten minutes, then the powdery film may be wiped off. Do not wash the face for some little time after using. By following this simple treatment, you will soon have a clear and brilliant complexion."

THE JURY DISAGREED

WILLIAM C. DOHERTY.

Jury Reported in Cambridge This Morning After Being Out All Night—Trial Occupied Three Days

The jury in the case of William C. Doherty, chairman of the board of health, reported a disagreement at 9:30 o'clock this morning in Cambridge before Judge Aiken. The jury retired yesterday at 5 o'clock and was out all night in an effort to reach a verdict. Judge Aiken at the close of the testimony, had ordered a verdict of not guilty on the charge of attempted bribery, there being no evidence to

BODY FOUND ROMANCE OF LOVE In So. Canal in Lawrence Today Revealed by Death of a Millionaire

PARIS, June 25.—The death here of Benjamin Hart, a millionaire American who has resided in Paris almost continuously for the past twenty-five years, has uncovered a romance which promises to have a court sequel in a suit brought by the adopted daughter whom Mr. Hart disinherited in his will. Hart was a Virginian by birth, but he was well known in New York, where he lived for many years and where he amassed a large fortune during the Civil war. He was married while he lived in America, but later was divorced. As there were no children to the union, Mr. Hart, during one of his visits to Paris, became interested in a pretty three-year-old child, Isabel Lucchesi, and arranged with the parents to adopt her as his own daughter.

The little girl was tenderly reared by Hart after the divorce from his wife and every care was bestowed upon her education and training. In 1892, when Isabel was 17 years of age, Hart formally adopted her in New York. The adopted daughter about this time contracted a brilliant marriage with a distinguished young French diplomat, Jean Guillemin, who is well known in America, where he was dispatched by M. Delcasse upon two missions. Soon after this Hart formed a mesalliance with a Madame de Ble, and installed her as the mistress of his splendid Paris home. It is charged that Madame de Ble conceived a violent hatred for the daughter because the latter refused to recognize her. At any rate, when Mr. Hart died it was found that he had left a will specifically disinheriting the adopted daughter and bequeathing all his property, which amounts to several millions of dollars, to Madame de Ble. Guillemin has instructed the lawyer, Donald Harper, to bring suit to break the will on the ground of undue influence. The document will also be contested, as it was drafted in accordance with the New York law, whereas it is claimed Hart was domiciled in France. Mr. Hart's will will come up for probate before the surrogate of New York on July 30.

BACK TO RED TOP.
RED TOP, Conn., June 25.—The Harvard four-oared crew returned in good form to Red Top, and when the freshmen came in Eaton who showed signs of distress at the finish had recovered his wonted spirits.
"The freshmen didn't row their race," said Coach Wray. "They were not up to the form that they have displayed in practice, frankly, I think they were a little rattled."
Captain Cutter of the freshman eight came ashore with a smiling happy face. "Every man in the boat rowed hard to win and we won," he said. "I don't know what more I can say. Of course we're happy."

NO EXCUSES TO OFFER.

Pending Result of the Trial Just Finished

William C. Doherty, in whose case for alleged political coercion the jury in the superior court at Cambridge, this morning reported a disagreement, will resume his position as chairman of the board of health.

Mr. Doherty has enjoyed the unique distinction of being self-suspended and in view of the fact that Judge Aiken ordered the jury in the case of alleged bribery to find Mr. Doherty not guilty and that in the other case the jury disagreed, Mr. Doherty feels that it is up to him to reinstate himself and he will do so at once.

Technical Baseball Points That Puzzle Fans

should have batted, but instead the next man, Higgenbotham, went first up and struck out, whereupon Manager Ganzel of Cincinnati reminded Emslie that Gilbert, not having batted in his regular order, was out in addition to Higgenbotham. But Emslie made the remarkable decision that while Gilbert was out, "Hig" was not, and, moreover, that "Hig" should immediately bat again, which he did, and again he struck out.

What the Official Rule Is.

There is no foundation for an excuse for such a decision by a veteran like Emslie. The official rules cover this point. They hold (rule 51, section 1) that a batsman is out—

If he fails to take his position at the bat in the order in which his name appears on the batting list unless the error be discovered and the proper batsman replace him before a "time at bat" is recorded, in which case the bats and strikes called must be counted in the "time at bat" of the proper batsman. But only the proper batsman shall be declared out, and no runs shall be scored or bases run because of any act of the improper batsman, provided this rule shall not be enforced unless the out be-

Ganzel has protested the game. The baseball and athletic lawyers are still wrangling over the case of Pitcher Sinecock of the University of Michigan, who was recently declared a professional by the faculty because he signed a contract with the Cincinnati Nationals, even though he had not received any money from the Reds. Probably a majority of the diamond

Michigan is concerned, without any question. Sinecock had notice (either actual or presumptive) of the rules of the university when he became a student and an athlete there. Whatever he did he did with such notice and must suffer the consequences. If he took his case into the courts, the courts would decide it against him along these exact lines. Of course ball reporters use these terms interchangeably or otherwise incorrectly. In a "force out" some runner is always put out but in a "fielder's choice" no runner is ever put out. Should the batsman be declared out under this section be the third man out and his side be thereby put out the proper batsman in the next inning shall be the player who would have come to bat had the players been put out by ordinary play in the preceding inning.

President Pulliam of the National league subsequently announced that he would sustain Emslie's decision.

sharp object to the faculty's ruling. It is stated that the signing of a contract to become a professional does not by any logic or reasoning make a man a professional. But here is where the folks who criticize the Michigan faculty are wrong. "It is a rule of the Michigan authorities, and it is, that a man is deemed a professional when he agrees to become one at a future date, then he is a professional, so far as out."

some other institution might later receive Sinecock and classify him as an amateur. That would not alter his status at Michigan. There he will always be held to be a professional.

"Fielder's Choice" and "Force Out."

Considerable confusion seems to have arisen over the difference between a "fielder's choice" and a "force out." Many otherwise capable baseball reporters use these terms interchangeably or otherwise incorrectly. In a "force out" some runner is always put out but in a "fielder's choice" no runner is ever put out. For instance, when a runner is on first and the ball is hit and not caught on the fly the effort is made to put out the runner going from first to second. If the throw is late and the runner safe at second the result is termed a "fielder's choice," but it does not figure as such in the summary. But if the runner from first is caught at second then a "force out" results.

Lesson For Lax Turf Governors.

SOLDIER KING, WINNER OF MOUNT WILSON RACE.

Soldier King is the nervy and enduring long distance runner of the Sixty-fourth company of coast artillery, Fort Miles, San Francisco, who recently won the great race up and down Mount Wilson, in the Sierra Madre range. betting bills by the New York state legislature. Investments of almost $100,000,000, made largely on the strength of the public interest in racing in New York state, are injuriously affected by the legislative action. Laxity in the rules of admission of bookmakers to the betting rings was largely responsible, in my opinion, for the arousing of public sentiment. When men who had brought tracks in other parts of the country into disrepute by their crooked trickery were allowed to operate "books" on New York state tracks the doom of the sport was forecasted. The Jockey club is largely to blame for the adverse legislation, for it refused to bar questionable operators from its tracks.

American Stage Stars Are Afflicted With "London Craze"

[From Our New York Dramatic Correspondent.]

"If you have not played in London you are not a really, truly big star." This is the now popular view among many American actors and actresses, and as a result the big and little folk of the stage are continually pulling wires in order to achieve the distinction claimed to be associated with a transatlantic engagement.

Certain it is that the number of American players that appear abroad is increasing each year. Some players are willing to accept less money for their services for a foreign engagement, so anxious are they to go. Then, too, a low salary list often makes it possible to continue the run of the play if it fails to make money, and thus is escaped the odium of a summary closing and the consequent newspaper account of how "Marguerite Euphrasia Stubbs failed miserably." During the next stage year an imposing number of American players will appear in England and on the continent.

Maudie Adams will be seen in London and Paris as Viola in "Twelfth Night" and as Lady Bobbie in her former great success, "The Little Minister," by James M. Barrie. She will be one of the American stars for whom Charles Frohman has arranged a series of important bookings on the continent. Among the foreign cities which Mr. Frohman will invade are Vienna, Berlin, Paris, Hamburg, London and possibly Munich.

Mr. Frohman recently visited all these cities to complete his arrangements and on returning to London gave out an interview, one of the very few that have escaped from him since he became the leader among the world's dramatic producers.

"I am convinced my new scheme of presenting English and American plays and players in large cities on the continent will be successful," said Mr. Frohman. "I found great interest taken in English and American drama in the large continental cities, particularly in Berlin, where the proposed tours probably will all begin."

"There has been a marked development in understanding between the continental and English speaking peoples. Since I first visited the continent a striking change of attitude toward theatrical things from the west has come over both Germans and French, a change due primarily without doubt to the annual American invasion."

"I found Berlin distinctly curious and well informed about American plays. Theatrical managers there were most willing to turn over their theaters to me for a definite period each season."

"It is my intention to present plays on the continental tour first in English, but also in German and French wherever I attain success. My plan is to present not adaptations, which are seldom good, but plays rewritten as well as translated by recognized continental playwrights.

"It may be of interest to state that in such cases royalties will be divided between the original authors and the foreign translators. I think drama in English should take the place in the world that French drama and German opera now hold and should be given not only in English, but in other great tongues."

To Play in London.

Annie Russell will head an all American company that will present "Paid in Full," the Eugene Walter success, in London. The entire production will be sent from New York.

Marie Doro will again appear in London as a star. She is now there undergoing vocal training to strengthen her voice. She last appeared there with William Gillette in "Charles," which he wrote and later produced in this country. "Charles" a failure, was kept alive for a run in order to save Mr. Gillette's reputation as a playwright from receiving a severe jolt.

Nellie Mae Brewster.

Miss Brewster is an Iowa girl who as a singer won wide attention in her native state and in New York before taking up stage work. She is a pupil of Marie S. Bissell, the New York vocal instructor, who early recognized the possibilities of Miss Brewster's soprano voice.

Miss Brewster after appearing in "Robin Hood" was attracted by a liberal offer to enter vaudeville and she toured the country successfully, giving an imitation of Fritz Schaff in "Miss Mollie" that Miss Schaff herself witnessed and praised. A Boston critic in describing Miss Brewster's performance said, "The dainty and musical Miss Brewster is as Fritz Schaff as Fritz Schaff himself." Henry W. Savage signed Miss Brewster for the leading role in the English musical comedy "The Little Minnie," and after a week of rehearsal she was taken ill with tonsillitis and forced to relinquish the role. As a result the play failed when put on at the Garden theater, New York.

Miss Brewster has a soprano voice of rare sweetness, and Charles Henry Meltzer, the New York critic, states that her range is unsurpassed by that of any soprano in musical comedy today, which must be considered very high praise.

Miss Brewster is the daughter of an Iowa newspaper editor and at different times resided at Creston and Ottumwa and later in Illinois, at Joliet.
